FOREWOE

Every institution must be in the last analysis, the embodiment of an Idea. Colleges, like men, possess, and must possess, many traits in common; but, like men too, each exhibits an individuality of its own. The distinctive idea back of Milligan College is that of GHARACTER BUILDING, FIRST OF ALL. The peculiar environment of the College, its seclusion, the religious and moral atmosphere which surrounds it, and the dominant aims of its Faculty and those who have it in charge, to say nothing of the cherished legacy of the past, all conspire to further the realization of the ideal it has in view. He who wrote "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," embodied to the fullest the educational ideal of Milligan.

COLLEGE BUILDING

RESOLUTION

Passed by the Official Board of the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society, February, 1908:

Whereas the greatest need of our missionary work in Tennessee is an adequate supply of ministers; and, whereas, we are compelled in a large measure to depend upon our schools and colleges to supply them; and, whereas, Milligan College, an institution of our State, has in the past done valuable service for the Church and is free of debt; and whereas this college, through its Board of Trustees, desires to co-operate more fully with our work, especially in educating ministers; and whereas it is understood that the Tennessee Christian Missionary Convention is not to assume as such, any debt or financial obligation of said college, now existing or hereafter contracted. Therefore,

Be it resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Christian Missionary Convention endorse the work of Milligan College and commend it to the Brotherhood of Tennessee as worthy of assistance and patronage.

PURPOSES AND AIMS

MILLIGAN COLLEGE stands for a definite and fixed idea of education. The central core of that idea is that character development is the FIRST THING to be considered, and that intellectual training, while vastly important, is always subsidiary to it.

Those who have charge of the school believe in the Christian Religion. They believe, therefore, in the immortality of the soul. If it be true that the soul is immortal, then the first question which every teacher should ask is, how can I so train the plastic mind placed in my charge that it shall develop into something worth lasting forever? Most modern systems of education think only of time; they leave the question of eternity, the question of the soul, as though it were unworthy of attention. At Milligan, the one purpose of the school is to build strong, clean. noble manhood and womanhood. We do not neglect intellectual development, as our curriculum will indicate, but we stand, first of all, for the building of character. All the intellectual culture in the world will not atone for vicious habits and a tarnished soul. How many parents have sent their children to school, desiring that they should receive a "liberal education," and have gotten them back, intemperate in body and in mind, and ruined morally, both for time and for eternity! Whatever Milligan does, and has done in the past, it makes, and has made, clean men and women. The success of our graduates is the best possible practical demonstration of the MILLI-GAN IDEA.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

MILLIGAN COLLEGE was chartered in 1882, being the successor to Buffalo Institute, which had been a power for good in the community and surrounding country since the time of the Civil war. The good accomplished by the old institution was greater than can be estimated now, but with the chartering, came a new era of larger and better things for the school. There was the development of the college life and work and spirit; a new building gave increased capacity for the larger number of students who flocked to the institution; the force of teachers was strengthened to meet the growing needs, and great interest was taken in the development of the new college.

From the beginning, there was an earnest desire to make the college an instrument for the accomplishment of good. The moral standard was raised very high, and every question, religious, political, social and individual, was tested by this high standard The Chapel exercises were made a forum for the discussion of the great questions of life, and the ideal of clean and manly or womanly character was constantly held up before the students. The wholesome influence of this policy resulted in a class of graduates who stand firmly in opposition to every wrong and hurtful thing, who are zealous for every genuine reform, and ever ready to lend assistance to any good cause. Thus, while the school has not been behind as to literary training, its great success has been in character building. It has developed sterling qualities in its men and women, and no institution can claim a larger percentage of successful graduates.

The college has had but three presidents during its history: J. Hopwood, from 1882 to 1903; H. R. Garrett, from 1903 to 1908, and F. D. Kershner, who was elected to the position in February, 1908. Both the founder, President Hopwood, and his successor, President Garrett, have left an undying impression for good upon those placed under their charge, and bequeathed an invaluable legacy of good men and lofty spirit to the college, the success of which has been largely due to their self-sacrificing energy and devotion.

The first class went out from Milligan in the spring of 1882, and the graduates now number one hundred and ninety-six. Of these, the greater part are teachers and preachers; some have entered the professions of law and medicine, and some are to be found in other callings. Nearly all of them are succeeding in their chosen fields of work. Besides the graduates of the institution, there are hundreds of students who did not stay in school long enough to complete the course, but who nevertheless received their training for their life's work here. They are scattered throughout this section of the country, and form a body of honest, industrious. pure-minded and safe citizens.

These twenty-seven years of college work have made great and lasting impression on the life of our country. The college points to its record with a feeling of just pride, sees in it the certain promise of great possibilities for the future, and asks but the patronage and support to which the principles for which it stands and the history of what it has accomplished entitle it to make a proportionately brighter record in the years to come.

Departments and Courses of Instruction

DEPARTMENT OF GREEK AND LATIN Professor Ellis

It is the aim of this department to lay, as thoroughly as possible, the foundation for an appreciative reading of the Greek and Latin Languages. As a very necessary means to this end, prose composition in both languages will be studied systematically throughout the course. In translation, the authors commonly used ln college courses will be studied, and an effort made to present their books as works of literature, not merely so much material for grammatical dissection. MUSIC DEPARTMENT

MISS MARCELENA HOUSTON

PIANO

The Method of Pianoforte instruction pursued is the "Flexible wrist, loose-arm system." inaugurated by Mendelssohn, Chopin and Talburg, and continued by Liszt and his pupils. Technical and theoretical instruction are combined. All possible questions relating to the pupil's work are asked, and constant reference is made to Musical Dictionaries and Encyclopedias.

Two thirty-minute lessons or one forty-minute lesson per week will be given in the Music Department, in accordance with arrangements mutually satisfactory to teacher and pupil.

Recitals will be given by the pupils during the school year, to which the patrons and friends of the college are invited.

VOICE CULTURE

The aim of our method is, first to develop the voice, throughout its entire compass, then to perfect it. We teach the proper use and extent of the registers of the voice, diaphragmatic breathing, and pure flexible tone. Tone is the chief aim during the entire course of study. The peculiarities presented by different voices are directed and modified, each according to its own nature.

Any pupil in the school may belong to the Glee Club, whether a student in the Music Department or not.

DEPARTMENT OF EXPRESSION

MARY BELLE BARLOW, A. B.

The aim of this department is the harmonious development of mind, body and voice; to "educate the body to spontaneously express in a beautiful way the highest emotions of the soul." The desire for freedom and the instinct to express thought and feeling are common to all. Artistic expression, however, is the result of specific training. The inspiration, the so-called "divine fire," rests with the individual; but the result of careful preparation and definite technique, no less important, must not be left to impulse. The instruction seeks to free the voice from stilted. elocutionary habits in reading and speaking, not by mechanical imitation, but by development of the instincts and feelings, and by training the voice and every muscle of the body, by means of which the soul or inner psychic being is manifested.

To this end, the method of instruction is based upon the principles of nature, or the order of the development of the human mind, as formulated in the "Evolution of Expression," a system of education, or series of progressive steps through which the pupil may be led to a realization of himself, and to a plane of art in expression. The subjects included in the course are:

Vocal and physical culture, Gesture, Platform Deportment, Poetic interpretation, Dramatic action and impersonation, Reading from the Bible and best authors, Interpretation of Shakspere.

Voice is the natural expression of the individual, therefore should be given careful training for its best use.

Through a system of aesthetic, psycho-physical culture, health, strength, grace and beauty are obtained without the use of apparatus.

Gesture is not taught materially, but from the mind.

The process of development is from acute selfconsciousness, through the practice of the laws which govern any art to a rounded, wise, beautiful self-expression. Soul and body should work together to an ideal end.

OTHER COURSES

The following branches, while not a part of the regular work of the college. may be pursued under the private direction of teachers affiliated with the institution: Book-keeping, both single and double entry; Stenography and Typewriting, the Gregg system of Shorthand, and Touch Typewriting. Art, oil painting and water colors, drawing, silk and china decoration, etc. The fees for work in these courses depend upon the length of time spent in their study, and may be learned upon application to the college.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The college is located three miles from John-Location son City, and half a mile from the Millligan station on the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina Railroad. It is surrounded by a small village named Milligan in honor of the institution.

The location is one of the most beautiful in America. The Watauga River flows only a short distance below the grounds, and the scenery around the college is unsurpassed in natural beauty and grandeur.

One of the most important considerations in Healthful- selecting a college is its healthfulness of ness location. Other advantages amount to but little without this, the most valuable of all. In the twenty-six years of its history, no epidemic has been known at Milligan. The purity of the air, the excellent water, and the splendid advantages for physical development have been chiefly responsible for this condition.

Buildings The main building, a substantial brick structure, containing the recitation rooms, chapel, library, and society halls, occupies the centre of the campus. It has been newly refitted, painted and papered, during the vacation of 1908. The young men's home, a two-story frame building, containing nearly thirty rooms, plainly furnished, but affording substantial accommodations for students, is located to the rear of the main building. The young ladies' home is a three-story brick structure, opened for the first time for the season of 1908-9. It contains thirty-two rooms, with reception rooms and parlor. has hot and cold water on each floor, is handsomely furnished, heated by steam and lighted by electricity. Rooms in this building should be engaged as soon as possible, as a number had already been reserved when the catalogue went to press.

The college campus contains over thirty acres of ground. A large and beautiful grove, each tree of which was planted by some former student, surrounds the main building. There are excellent ball grounds and tennis courts for the use of the student body.

The library contains about five thousand Library volumes and is being rapidly increased. The departments of history and Biblical literature are particularly well equipped.

Reading Room The reading room is kept supplied with the best weekly and monthly magazines, among others being "The Outlook," "The Independent," "The Saturday Evening Post," "The Christian Standard," "Christian Evangelist," "The Literary Digest," "McClure's," "Review of Reviews," "Harpers." "The Atlantic Monthly," and many others. All students have the privilege of the library and reading room, subject, of course, to proper rules and regulations.

The literary societies are three in number— Literary The Adelphian and American for young Societies men, and the Sorosis for young ladies. They do excellent work during the year, giving public performances upon stated occasions.

Milligan, with its location and facilities. nat-Athletics urally offers every advantage for clean and successful athletics. Athletics are encouraged, within the proper bounds, and in accordance with proper Inter-Collegiate standards. Only "Clean ball," in every sense of the term, will be permitted in connection with the institution.

The greatest and best inheritance of Milli-Collegegan is its "college spirit." It is not of theSpiritkind which delights to express itself in row-dyism and profanity, but rather in a clean. pure. healthful moral tone which irresistibly permeates the whole student body. The very air of Milligan breathes purity and high-toned Christian character.

The religious and moral influences thrown Religious around the student at Milligan are of the and Moral best. The prayer meetings, both mid-week Influences and Sunday evenings, have a reputation that has become national, if not indeed international. The "Number Nine" students' prayer meeting has exerted an influence unexcelled by any other meeting of the kind in existence, and the regular mid-week prayer meeting is also unsurpassed in its own way. The chapel exercises at Milligan are far less perfunctory and more genuinely devotional than any the writer has observed elsewhere, although he has had large opportunities for observation in the matter.

YoungThe rules governing the conduct of girls in our young ladies' home, while strict, are not burdensome. The greatest care is exercised by those who have them in charge, and parents may safely trust their daughters in our hands. We have a thoroughly efficient and capable Dean of women, and an experienced matron in charge of the housekeeping department. The young ladies' rooms are extra large, are well ventilated, equipped with new furniture, and are comfortable in every sense of the term. We furnish exceptionally good board for the prices charged. There are few places in the world where a young lady can secure a thorough education at so little expense, as in Milligan.

Students boarding at the homes will furnishWhat toFurnishBreakageBreakagebeld responsible for any breakage or damage done to property or furniture.

Young ladies attending the college are not permitted to board outside of the home, except with the express approval of their parents, and special permission from the faculty.

Text-books, stationery, etc., can be purchased at publishers' price from the college book store. All purchases at the store are strictly cash. Nearly all necessary books can be secured second-hand, thus reducing the expense for books to a minimum.

Monday instead of Saturday is the regular Monday weekly holiday. Holiday

FOREWORD.

Every institution must be, in the last analysis, the embodiment of an idea. Colleges, like men, possess, many traits in common; but like men too, each exhibits an individuality of its own. The distinctive idea back of Milligan College is that of CHAR-ACTER BUILDING, FIRST OF ALL. The peculiar environment of the College, its seclusion, the religious and moral atmosphere which surrounds it, and the dominant aims of its Faculty and those who have it in charge, to say nothing of the cherished legacy of the past, all conspire to further the realization of the ideal it has in view. He who wrote, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," embodied to the fullest the educational ideal of Milligan.

Passed by the Official Board of the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society, February, 1908:

Whereas the greatest need of our missionary work in Tennessee is an adequate supply of ministers; and, whereas, we are compelled in a large measure to depend upon our schools and colleges to supply them; and, whereas, Milligan College, an institution of our State, has in the past done valuable service for the Church and is free of debt; and, whereas, this college, through its Board of Trustees, desires to co-operate more fully with our work, especially in educating ministers; and, whereas, it is understood that the Tennessee Christian Missionary Convention is not to assume as such any debt or financial obligation of said college, now existing, or hereafter contracted, therefore,

Be it resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Christian Missionary Convention endorse the work of Milligan College and commend it to the Brotherhood of Tennessee as worthy of assistance and patronage.

PURPOSES AND AIMS.

MILLIGAN COLLEGE stands for a definite and fixed idea of education. The central core of that idea is that character development is the FIRST THING to be considered, and that intellectual training, while vastly important, is always subsidiary to it.

Those who have charge of the school believe in the Christian Religion. They believe, therefore, in the immortality of the soul. If it be true that the soul is immortal, then the first question which every teacher should ask is, "How can I so train the plastic mind placed in my charge that it shall develop into something worth lasting forever?" Most modern systems of education think only of time; they leave the question of eternity, the question of the soul, as though it were unworthy of attention. At Milligan, the one purpose of the school is to build strong, clean, noble manhood and womanhood. We do not neglect intellectual development, as our curriculum will indicate, but we stand, first of all, for the building of character. All the intellectual culture in the world will not atone for vicious habits and a tarnished soul. How many parents have sent their children to school, desiring that they should receive a "liberal education," and have gotten them back, intemperate in body and in mind, and ruined morally, both for time and for eternity? Whatever Milligan does, and has done in the past, it makes, and has made, clean men and women. The success of our graduates is the best possible praccal demonstration of the MILLIGAN IDEA.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

MILLIGAN COLLEGE was chartered in 1882, being the successor to Buffalo Institute, which had been a power for good in the community and surrounding country since the time of the Civil War. The good accomplished by the old institution was greater than can be estimated now; but, with the chartering, came a new era of larger and better things for the school. There was the development of the college life and work and spirit; a new building gave increased capacity for the larger number of students who flocked to the institution; the force of teachers was strengthened to meet the growing needs; and great interest was taken in the development of the new college.

From the beginning, there was an earnest desire to make the college an instrument for the accomplishment of good. The moral standard was raised very high; and every question, religious, political, social and individual, was tested by this high standard. The Chapel exercises were made a forum for the discussion of the great questions of life, and the ideal of clean and manly or womanly character was constantly held up before the students. The wholesome influence of this policy resulted in a class of graduates who stand firmly in opposition to every wrong and hurtful thing, who are zealous for every genuine reform, and who are ever ready to lend assistance to any good cause. Thus, while the school has not been behind as to literary training, its great success has been in character building. It has developed sterling qualities in its men and women, and no institution can claim a larger percentage of successful graduates.

The college has had but three presidents during its history; J. Hopwood, from 1882 to 1903; H. R. Garrett, from 1903 to 1908, and F. D. Kershner, who was elected to the position in February, 1908. Both the founder, President Hopwood, and his successor, President Garrett, have left an undying impression for good upon those placed under their charge, and bequeathed an invaluable legacy of good men and lofty spirit to the college, the success of which has been largely due to their self-sacrificing energy and devotion.

The first class went out from Milligan in the spring of 1882, and the graduates now number two hundred and four. Of these, the greater part are teachers and preachers; some have entered the professions of law and medicine; and some are to be found in other callings. Nearly all of them are succeeding in their chosen fields of work. Besides the graduates of the institution, there are hundreds of students who did not stay in school long enough to complete the course, but who nevertheless received their training for their life's work here. They are scattered throughout this section of the country, and form a body of honest, industrious, pure-minded and safe citizens.

These twenty-eight years of college work have made great and lasting impression on the life of our country. The college points to its record with a feeling of just pride, sees in it the certain promise of great possibilities for the future, and asks but the patronage and support to which the principles for which it stands and the history of what it has accomplished entitle it to make a proportionately brighter record in the years to come.

ROBERT MILLIGAN.

Robert Milligan was born in Tyrone, a county of the most northern province of Ireland, July 25th, 1814. In 1818 he was brought to the United States by his parents, John and Margaret Milligan, who settled in Trumbull county, Ohio, which was afterward the native county of the late President McKinley. In 1831 he entered Zelienople Academy, in Beaver county, Pa., and, in 1833, a classical academy, conducted by a graduate of the University of Edinburgh at Jamestown in the same state. As one of nine children of parents in moderate circumstances, he had to begin life for himself before he had completed his collegiate training. Accordingly, in 1837, he opened a school at Flat Rock, in Bourbon county, Ky. A careful study of the New Testament, in the original Greek, resulted in his immersion, on March 11th, 1838, by Elder John Irvin, of the Church of Christ at Cane Ridge.

Earnestly desiring the advantages of a collegiate education, he left Kentucky in 1839, with the intention of entering Yale College.

His journey over the National Road brought him to Washington, Pa. A delay, occasioned probably by his unwillingness to travel on the Lord's Day, led to his remaining in Washington, where he could attend what was then called Washington College, and where he could. at the same time, worship with the small congregation of disciples in the neighboring village of Martinsburg. Graduated in 1840, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, which had then a very definite meaning. he was at once promoted from the tutorship, which he had held in the college before his graduation, to the professorship of the English language and literature; and during a part of that time, he gave instruction in Greek and Latin classics also. Meanwhile, in 1842, he married Miss Ellen Blaine Russell, of Washington, whose father at the time, and one of whose brothers afterwards, represented the Bedford (Pa.) district in congress. In 1843, Professor Milligan received from his alma mater the degree of Master of Arts; in 1844 he was ordained a minister of the gospel, with imposition of the hands of Elder Thomas Campbell, the venerable father of Alexander Campbell; and in 1849 or 1850, he was transferred to the department of chemistry and natural history. When in 1852 the college was placed under the control of the Presbyterian Synod of Wheeling, he insisted on the acceptance of his resignation, that the institution might be wholly in the hands of those who were entitled to guide its fortunes.

Invited at once to Bloomington, Ind., he held first the chair of mathematics, and then that of chemistry, natural philosophy and astronomy, in Indiana University. The degree of Doctor of Divinity, which was tendered to him by the University, he declined. Resigning his professorship at Bloomington, because of the ill health of his son, he accepted in 1854 the chair of mathematics and astronomy in Bethany College, in what was then a part of Virginia. Besides the dutles of his professorship, he discharged those of an elder of the church at Bethany, and for three years, beginning with 1857, he was a co-editor of the Millenial Harbinger.

In May of 1857 he was elected President of Bacon College at Harrodsburg, Ky. The name of the institution having in the meantime been changed, he was inaugurated President of Kentucky University, on Wednesday, September 21st, 1859, which was the third day of the first session under the new name. After the destruction of the college building by fire, in February of 1864, had made the removal of the institution from Harrodsburg necessary, he was a member of the committee that decided in favor of removal to Lexington. When Kentucky University, which had now attained university proportions, was reorganized in 1865, with its founder as the head of the associated colleges, President Milligan was placed at the head of the College of the Bible, a place most congenial to his tastes and purposes, which he filled until his last illness.

As an author, President Milligan, in addition to his Tract on Prayer, which he had written before, composed during the last ten years of his life, the volumes entitled, Reason and Revelation, The Scheme of Redemption, The Great Commission, Analysis of the Gospels and Acts, and which was published as a posthumous work, Commentary on Hebrews.

He died peacefully, in full possession of his faculties, and surrounded in his home by his family and by friends, on March 20th, 1875. His death was lamented in the communities in which he had lived, and was deplored throughout the Christian Brotherhood. The Apostolic Times concluded its announcement of his decease with " APrince has this day fallen in Israel;" the American Christian Review declared that he was one of those "of whom the world was not worthy;" and President John W. McGarvey, his friend and colaborer in the College of the Bible, in the funeral discourse which he pronounced, summed up the general estimate of his character in the words that are repeated on his monument in the Lexington cemetery: "He was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith."-(Excerpt from Article, "Robert Milligan," in John T. Brown's "Church of Christ."

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

Admission to the College is by accredited certificate or examination, the examination covering the ground of the Sub Freshman work as outlined elsewhere in the Catalogue. Students who have finished their preparatory work here are admitted without examination. No examinations are required for admission to the Preparatory Department. For the facilitation of matriculation, printed blanks covering the entire list of preparatory studies must be filled out by the student, showing, by means of the proper credits, the completion of all work below the class he desires to enter.

MATRICULATION.

Students upon their arrival should report at once to the President of the College in the College Office. The President will fill out the proper blanks and then send the student to the Treasurer; after receiving the receipt of the latter for the term fees (see item "Expenses" under "General Information"), the matriculate will go to the Secretary of the College who will enroll him upon the permanent records of the institution, thereby completing the matriculation.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES.

The full requirements for the various undergraduate degrees are given in tabulated form, elsewhere in the catalogue.

For the degree of Master of Arts, the student must have received the A. B. degree, and must pursue at least two full years' work under the special direction of the Faculty. 'The preparation of a satisfactory thesis is also required. For the degree of Master of Science, the possession of some other academic degree than that of A. B., together with the completion of two full years' graduate study, and a satisfactory thesis, are required.

DEPARTMENT OF GREEK AND LATIN

Professor Ellis

It is the aim of this department to lay, as thoroughly as possible, the foundation for an appreciative reading of the Greek and Latin Languages. As a very necessary means to this end, prose composition in both languages will be studied systematically throughout the course. In translation, the authors commonly used in college courses will be studied, and an effort made to present their books as works of literature, not merely so much material for grammatical dissection. More important than the mere study of form, is a realization of the eloquence of Cicero, the beauty of Virgil and Horace, and the living, irresistlble charm of genius and spirit in the whole field of Greek literature.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS.

Professor Lane.

The work in mathematics is designed to give as thorough and as practical a knowledge of the subjects studied as it is possible to gain in the time devoted to them. The objects of teaching in this department are three:

First: The full and harmonicus development of the reasoning faculties as an equipment for the performance of the student's lifework with the best possible results for himself and his fellow men.

Second: To reveal to the student the moral worth of the science in developing habits of promptness, accuracy and decision, and discriminating between truth and error.

Third: To set forth the utility of the science in its practical application to industrial enterprise.

An outline of the courses follows:

Freshman Year.

FIRST TERM-Solid Geometry (Wentworth).

SECOND TERM—Advanced Algebra (Wentworth's "College Algebra, Revised"). This course covers graphs, progressions, logarithms, binominal theorems, undetermined coefficients, choice and chance, continued fractions, series, the elements of determinants, and such other subjects as time allows.

The design of this department is to furnish a working knowledge of the two most important representatives of the modern language group. The student is carefully drilled in the forms, and is taught to acquire as large a vocabulary as possible. Sight reading is extensively employed in the course of study. An attempt is also made to familiarize the students with the most important facts dealing with the literature of the French and German peoples. The courses in detail are as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY.

Professor Utterback.

The design of this department is to familiarize the student with the more important facts of both Ancient and Modern History, and also to give some insight into the social life and constitutional development of the various nations of the world. DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL SCIENCE.

Professor Utterback

Owing to circumstances, it is only possible for us to present outline courses in the various sciences, with a minimum of laboratory work. Since the college course is moreover practically filled with other studies, we have deemed it advisable to place most of our work in Science in the Preparatory Department. A general outline of Biology, including a brief study of Zoology, Botany and Physiology, occupies the Senior Year of preparatory work. Outline courses in Physics and Chemistry are given in the Sub Freshman Year. Only one year's study in science is required in the college proper. The work for this year is as follows:

ROBERT MILLIGAN BIBLE COLLEGE.

The Robert Milligan Bible College has grown out of the needs of religious work in the South. Its aim is to furnish an adequate preparation for the ministry of the Gospel on the part of those who complete the work assigned. The ideals which govern those who have charge of the school are entirely opposed to any legalistic or formalistic interpretation of Christianity. On the contrary, they assume that the one need of the world today is the vital, living Christ, with His message of supreme tenderness and love. To see somewhat of that message, to become enthused with it, and to go forth to proclaim it to the world, they conceive to be the mission of the preacher. The school alms always at thoroughness of preparation and accuracy of scholarship rather than mere numerical display. It appeals to all those who have the ideal of quality rather than quantity in the work of the ministry.

Unswerving fidelity to the word, and thorough devotion to the Christ are the appropriate watchwords of a School bearing the name of one of the noblest of all God's Noblemen, since the Apostolic Age. And surely no place could be better adapted by location and environment to preserve and cherish the spirit of Robert Milligan than the spot which bears his honored name.

There are no specific entrance requirements as the student is placed where his previous record, in public or private school, entitles him to go; and in case he fails to keep up his work properly, he is dropped to a lower class.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

Miss Marcelena Houston Piano

The Method of Pianoforte instruction pursued is the "Flexible wrist loose-arm sytem," inaugurated by Mendelssohn, Chopin and Talburg, and continued by Liszt and his pupils. Technical and theoretical instruction are combined. All possible questions relating to the pupil's work are asked, and constant reference is made to Musical Dictionaries and Encyclopedias.

Two thirty-minute lessons or one forty-minute lesson per week will be given in the Music Department in accordance with arrangements mutually satisfactory to teacher and pupil.

Recitals will be given by the pupils during the school year, to which the patrons and friends of the college are invited.

Voice Culture

The aim of our method is, first to develop the voice throughout its entire compass, then to perfect it. We teach the proper use and extent of the registers of the voice, diaphragmatic breathing, and pure flexible tone. Tone is the chief aim during the entire course of study. The peculiarities presented by different voices are directed and modifled, each according to its own nature.

Any pupil in the school may belong to the Glee Club, whether a student in the Music Department or not.

MUSICAL CURRICULUM

FIRST GRADE—Sartorio, Practical Method. Gaynor's "Melody Pictures." Kohler, "Easy Studies," "Little Pieces" by Spaulding, Richter, Streabog.

SECOND GRADE-Studies; Duvernoy, Loeschhorn, Kohler. Simple pieces by Schumann, Hayden, Chopin, Heller, Lange.

THIRD GRADE—Studies: Czerney, "Etudes de la Velocite;" Heller, "Etudes Loeschhorn." Composition of Jenson, Jungmann, Bohm, Schumann, Mozart, Clementi, Kroeger, and other composers.

FOURTH GRADE—Studies: Cramer, "Etudes," four books; Heller, "The Art of Phrasing;" Bach, "Little Preludes." The Compositions of Chopin, Grieg, Godard, Mendelssohn, Rubenstein, and Liszt, are carefully studied in this grade, special attention being given to interpretation and technics.

FIFTH GRADE—Studies: Bach, "Two Part Inventions;" Clementi, "Gradus ad Parnassum;" Kullak, "Octave Studies." Difficult compositions of Bach, Beethoven, Liszt, Grieg, Raff and MacDowell are studied in this grade.

A thorough knowledge of the Elements of Harmony is required for the completion of this grade.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

For the degree of Bachelor of Music (Mus. B.), completion of the entire Music Course is required, together with two years of Harmony, and one year of Theory and History of Music. Graduates in Music are also required to give a public Recital, unassisted, previous to graduation.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Mr. Melvin M. Knight

The aim of the Commercial Department is to be complete and practical. The courses are designed, work outlined, text-books selected, and everything planned with the one design of giving the student everything necessary in training and equipment, to enable him to fill competently the positions in the actual commercial world of today, for which the work he takes is supposed to be a preparation, and to tax his time and energies with as little as possible that is not directly useful. The courses usually offered in Business Colleges throughout the country, are taught here as follows:

1. Stenography and Typewriting

(a) SHORTHAND. There is a great deal of irrelevant, polemical discussion indulged in over the merits of different shorthand systems. We do not believe the matter of choice of system to be nearly so vital as dlligent application to the one selected, until its principles have become mastered by study and their application has grown natural and easy through practice. We give students their choice of either the Graham or the Gregg systems. The former is usually conceded to be the most rapid of the Pitmanic systems; while the latter is best known, and we believe, everything considered, the best, of the light-line positionless systems. The course consists in the regular texts with practice matter for dictation work.

(b) TYPEWRITING. Typewriting by touch is so far and so obviously superior to the old method, that we compel all students to learn "absolute touch," and deal shortly with any indications of a tendency to drift into the clumsy sight-writing. Students practice two hours each school day on new standard machines. A rental of 50c per week, $2.00 per month, is charged for the use of the machines, payable in advance; or students may furnish their own machines.

(c) STENOGRAPHERS' BUSINESS PRACTICE. The short-hand and typewriting work is supplemented by two weeks of actual office work, involving the taking and transcribing of business letters, the use of those business forms with which a stenographer must be acquainted, copying, filing, card-indexing systems, and everything the student will find in a modern office.

II. BOOKKEEPING AND OFFICE RPACTICE

This course will make competent business bookkeepers of those who conscientiously pursue and finish it. It includes "Practical Bookkeeping," a thorough and up-to-date text-book, and "Twentieth Century Business Practice," a practice-course in which the student actually keeps in succession five different sets of books, in different kinds of business, making all the transactions and handling all the business papers, cash, etc., with which he would have to deal in keeping the books of a modern business enterprise. A Supplementary Course gives instruction in Bank Accounting, by the same methods.

III. COMMERCIAL LAW

A comprehensive course in the laws of business with which business men should be familiar. Study and recitation from a good Commercial College Text, two hours weekly, alternating with the Penmanship Course.

IV. BUSINESS PENMANSHIP

We teach the well-known "Palmer Method of Business Writing," which develops a rapid, easy, legible, business hand—that which the business world of today demands. Practice, under instructor's supervision, three hours per week, alternating with Commercial Law.

DIPLOMAS

Two diplomas are granted for Commercial work, one in Stenography, and the other in Bookkeeping.

(a) STENOGRAPHY. To receive the Stenographer's Diploma, the student must satisfactorily complete the course, must pass examination in Shorthand and in Typewriting, and must be proficient in Spelling, English Grammar and Rhetoric. The Shorthand examination covers the taking of dictation from new matter from different sources at a speed of one hundred words per minute, and reading same back accurately and readily from the Shorthand notes. The standard for typewriting is a copying speed of seventy words per minute from unfamiliar matter of different kinds, five words to be deducted for each error. The Diploma fee is $3.00.

(b) BOOKKEEPING. Students who satisfactorily complete the course in Bookkeeping, furnish evidence of competency, and pass an examination in Commercial Law, and who write a plain business hand, will be granted our Accountants' Diploma, on payment of the Diploma fee of $3.00.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Location

The college is located three miles from Johnson City, and half a mile from the Milligan station on the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina Railroad. It is surrounded by a small village named Milligan College in honor of the institution.

The location is one of the most beautiful in America. The Watauga River flows only a short distance below the grounds, and the scenery around the college is unsurpassed in natural beauty and grandeur.

Healthfulness

One of the most important considerations in selecting a college is its healthfulness of location. Other advantages amount to but little without this, the most valuable of all. In the thirty years of its history, no epidemic has been known at Milligan. The purity of the air, the excellent water, and the splendid advantages for physical development have been chiefly responsible for this condition.

66

Buildings

The college buildings are three in number. The main building, a substantial brick structure, containing the recitation rooms, chapel, library, and society halls, occupies the center of the campus. It has been newly refitted, painted and papered. The young men's home, a two-story frame building, containing nearly thirty rooms, plainly furnished, but affording substantial accommodations for students, is located to the rear of the main building.

The Frances T. and Columbus A. Mee Memorial Hall

Through the munificence of Mrs. Frances T. Mee, of Cleveland, Tenn., we now have free of debt our spacious and handsomely furnished young ladies' dormitory. Mee Hall is a three-story brick structure, opened for the first time for the season of 1908-09. It contains thirty-two rooms, with reception rooms and parlor, has hot and cold water on each floor , is handsomely furnished, and is heated by steam. Rooms in this building should be engaged as soon as possible, as a number had already been reserved when the catalogue went to press.

The college campus contains over thirty acres of ground. A large and beautiful grove, each tree of which was planted by some former student, surrounds the main building. There are excellent ball grounds and tennis courts for the use of the student body.

Library

The library contains about five thousand volumes and is being rapidly increased. The departments of history and Biblical literature are particularly well equipped.

Reading Room

The reading room is kept supplied with the best weekly and monthly magazines, among others being "The Outlook," "The Independent," "The Saturday Evening Post," "The Christian Standard," "Christian Evangelist," "The Literary Digest," "McClure's," "Review of Reviews" "Cosmopolitan," "The American Magazine," "Harpers," and many others. All students have the privilege of the library and reading room, subject, of course, to proper rules and regulations.

Honors

The average grades for the entire length of time spent in school are printed upon the Commencement programs. The student in the Classical Course, sustaining the highest general average is awarded the Valedictory. The student sustaining the next highest average, in any course, is awarded the Salutatory; and the student sustaining the highest average after those of the Valedictorian and Salutatorian is awarded the Class Oration.

Contests

Through the munificence of two of our alumni, Mr. Oscar M. Fair (1903), and Mr. George E. Lyon (1891), two gold medal oratorical contests are held during the week of the Commencement exercises. The George E. Lyon Contest is open to all students, irrespective of age or class, while the Oscar M. Fair Contest is between the representatives of the Literary Societies of the College. The Fair contest carries with it a prize of $15 in gold and a gavel made of wood from Lookout Mountain for the successful society.

Organization of Classes

The College makes no provision for the organization of classes in any department in which less than five students have signified their intention of taking up the work.

Literary Societies

The literary societies are four in number—The American, Adelphian, and Volunteer for young men, and the Ossolian for young ladies. They do excellent work during the year, giving public performances upon stated occasions.

Athletics

Milligan, with its location and facilities, naturally offers every advantage for clean and successful athietics. Athletics are encouraged, within the proper bounds, and in accordance with the proper Inter-Collegiate standards. Only "clean ball," in every sense of the term, will be permitted in connection with the institution.

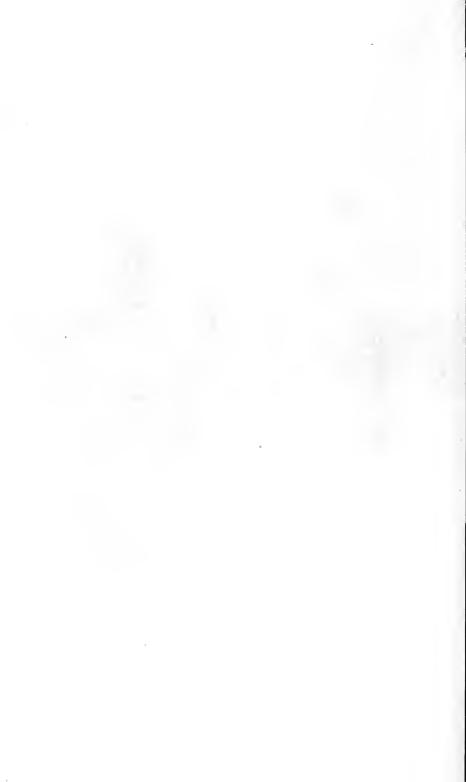

College Spirit

The greatest and best inheritance of Milligan is its "college spirit." It is not of the kind which delights to express itself in rowdyism and profanity, but rather in a clean, pure, healthful moral tone which irresistibly permeates the whole student body. The very air of Milligan breathes purity and high-toned Christian character.

Religious and Moral Influences

The religious and moral influences thrown around the student at Milligan are of the best. The prayer meetings, both mid-week and Sunday evenings, have a reputation that has become national, if not indeed international. The "Number Nine" students' prayer meeting has exerted an influence unexcelled by any other meeting of the kind in existence, and the regular mid-week prayer meeting is also unsurpassed in its own way. The chapel exercises at Milligan are far less perfunctory and more geuinely devotional than any the writer has observed elsewhere, although he has had large opportunities for observation in the matter.

Young Ladies' Home

The rules governing the conduct of girls in our young ladies' home, while strict, are not burdensome. The greatest care is exercised by those who have them in charge, and parents may safely trust their daughters in our hands. We have a thoroughly efficient and capable Dean of Women, and an experienced matron in charge of the housekeeping department. The young ladies' rooms are extra large, are well ventilated, equipped with new furniture, and are comfortable in every sense of the term. We furnish exceptionally good board for the prices charged. There are few places in the world where a young hady can secure a thorough education at so little expense, as at Milgan.

What to Furnish

Students boarding at the homes will furnish their own toilet articles, towels, napkins, pillow cases and sheets, and one blanket each.

Breakage

The parents or guardians of students are held responsible for any breakage or damage done to property or furniture.

Outside Board

Young ladies attending the college are not permitted to board outside of the home, except with the express approval of their parents, and special permission from the faculty.

Text Books

Text-books, stationery, etc., can be purchased at publishers' price from the college book store. All purchases at the store are strictly cash. Nearly all necessary books can be secured second-hand, thus reducing the expense for books to a minimum.

Monday Holiday

Monday instead of Saturday is the regular weekly holiday.

Two Terms

The school year is divided into two terms, or semesters, of eighteen weeks each.

MILLIGAN COLLEGE CATALOGUE

Class Absences

Five unexcused absences in any one study will suspend the student thus absent.

Age Limit in Young Men's Dormitory

Boys under fifteen years of age are not allowed to room in the young men's dormitory.

Athletic Requirements

By a resolution of the Executive Committee of Milligan College, no student will be allowed to represent Milligan College in Inter-Collegiate Athletic contests who has not been enrolled for one full term, and who has not made during that time a passing grade in at least three studies.

Mission Studies

The college takes an active interest in mission work, and mission study classes will be conducted. A complete library, embracing such books as "The Price of Africa," "The Christian Conquest of India," "Where the Book Speaks," etc., is provided for the use of students.

Milligan Band

The college maintained an excellent band and orchestra in 1909-10. The outlook for the coming year is also promising as regards this feature of college life.

Noted Places Near Milligan

Within a distance of one to ten miles are many spots of historic interest. Among them are:

The starting point of the patriotic mountaineers who faced death on King's Mountain, and by their gallant victory changed the colonial rebellion into a successful revolution.

The battlefield where, in 1788, the force of arms decided that East Tennessee and Western North Carolina should not remain as the separate STATE of FRANKLIN.

The seat of the first legislative body ever assembled in Tennessee.

The bed-log of the first gristmill ever built west of the Alleghany Mountains.

The tree on which is cut "D Boon Cild Bar," and many other points of interest.

These may all be seen in our excursions.

Rules and Regulations

Students are expected to deport themselves as ladies and gentlemen, above all, as those who are, or expect to be, Christian men and women. No profanity is permitted on the grounds, nor is the use of tobacco or alcohol in any form allowed. Insubordination, or violation of the laws of the school will lead to expulsion and permanent exclusion from its privileges.

Milligan Endowment

Through the kindness of Professor Alexander R. Milligan of Lexington, Ky., who gave $5,000 for the purpose in December, 1909, we now have the nucleus of a permanent endowment fund. This fund ought to be increased to at least $100,000 in order to enable Milligan College to accomplish the work it can and ought to do.

Scholarships

Those who cannot help with the permanent endowment may find it possible to endow named scholarships in the institution. The sum of $800 will endow a perpetual scholarship, carrying with it the tuition expense of one student for every year. The sum of $2,000 will endow a ministerial scholarship, carrying with it the board, room, heat, light, and tuition expense of one student in the ministerial course each year. The sum of $2,500 will endow a similar scholarship for a young lady in any of the regular collegiate courses.

Annual scholarships providing for student expense, year by year, may be contributed individually as follows. Forty dollars, in four equal payments, will constitute a named tuition scholarship for the year; and one hundred dollars, in ten equal payments, will constitute a named ministerial scholarship for the year. Churches, Endeavor or Ladies' Aid Societles, and even Sunday School Classes should provide scholarships of the kind for worthy students among their number or elsewhere.

Form of Bequest

Many friends of Milligan College will doubtless be glad to help its work, after they have passed from this earth to their reward. In this way, they will be able to originate a stream of influence, continuing throughout eternity. The following, or an equivalent form, should be used in your will, which should fully describe real estate, and should be signed by you, in the presence of witnesses, whose signatures should likewise appear:

"I give and bequeath to Milligan College of Tennessee, an institution chartered under the laws of the state of Tennessee, and located at Milligan College, Carter County, Tennessee, the sum of $....... (or if real estate, let location and description appear at this point) for the use of said institution in conducting its work of education; and the receipt of the secretary of the said institution for the above-named sum, or described property, shall constitute a release for my executor for the same."

How to Get to Milligan College

Eastern students come to Bristol, Tenn., thence to Johnson City. Western students come to Knoxville, Tenn., thence to Johnson City. Southern students come via Asheville, N. C., and Morristown, Tenn., to Johnson City.

MILLIGAN COLLEGE STATION is three miles from Johnson City, on the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina R. R.

Conduct in Examinations.

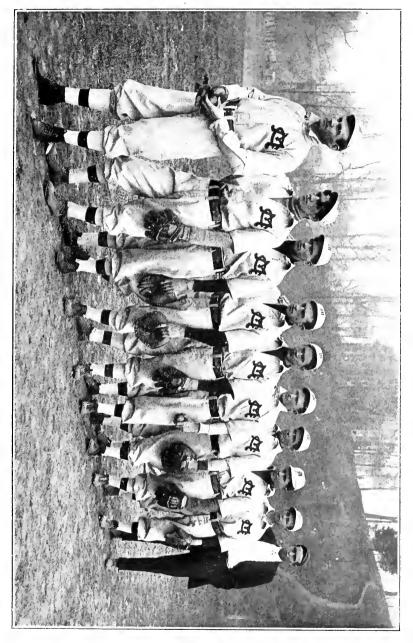

By a Resolution of the Faculty, adopted May 2nd, 1910, it was determined that in all classes in the Collegiate Department, and the Sub-Freshman Class of the Preparatory Department, the penalty for any sort of dishonesty on the part of students in examinations shall be, in the first instance "Suspension from that class in which the offence occurred for the term. with the loss of all credit for the term's work in the aforesaid class, no opportunity for making up said work to be permitted until the scholastic year following. For a second offence by the same party, the penalty shall be suspension from the College for the term in which the offence was committed, with the loss of all credits for the term's work."

It was also resolved, "That in all cases, the student accused of dishonesty shall be given a fair trial, and conviction shall follow an affirmative vote of three fourths of the membership of the entire faculty."

Furnished room with board can be secured outside the college in private families at from $9.00 to $12.00 per month, the usual price being $10.00.

Fees.

The only fees connected with the college are the following:

(a) Library fee of one dollar charged each student upon matriculation, and the proceeds applied strictly to the purchase of books and magazines for the library.

(b) Matriculation fee of $10.00 charged all students in the English Ministerial Course, who do not room and board in the College dormitory. This fee will also admit anyone to all lecture courses in the College, but not to class room work or examinations.

Combination Courses and Total Expenses Estimated

For the benefit of those young ladies who desire to take music chiefly, we have a special musical course, giving either vocal or instrumental music and a maximum of two English studies for $75.00 per term, in advance, for everything (board, room, heat, light, tuition, etc.)

If both vocal and instrumental music are desired, the fee is $90.00 per term, in advance, for everything (board, room, heat, light, tuition, etc.)

The total necessary expense of a student at Milligan College varies from $100.00 per year to $175.00. $140.00 for a young man, and $150.00 for a young lady is a good general average. The Milligan rates do not aim at that cheapness which negates comfort, nor on the other hand, do they embody more than the actual expense which comfort brings.

Diploma Fees

The fee for the Bachelor's Diploma is, in all cases, $5.00. The fee for the Master's Degree is $10.00. The fee for the Ministerial Diploma in either the English or the Classical Course is $3.00. The fee for either of the Business Diplomas is also $3.00.

Laundry and Incidental Expenses

Laundry costs from 75c to $1.50 per month, in accordance with amount. Incidental expenses are at a minimum at Milligan College. There is no reason why a student should spend anything beyond the smallest possible allowance, for expenses outside of college charges.

Terms of Payment, Etc.

All tuition and room rent bills, for the term, are payable strictly in advance, and payment must be arranged for at the time of matriculation. Board is payable weekly, in advance, as elsewhere stated. In all cases, where the student leaves during the term, no refund or deduction of tuition or room rent will be made, unless by special action of the Executive Committee. The justice of the latter regulation will become apparent when it is understood that a room vacated during the term cannot be filled, except in rare instances, before the opening of the next term.

ATHLETICS

Milligan College has always maintained a fine record as regards athletics. In common with the more advanced educational ideals, we do not play football at all; but base ball, basket ball, tennis, and other legitimate games are encouraged, within proper bounds, and in accordance with the regulations mentioned elsewhere in the catalogue. The record of the Milligan base ball team during the past number of years has been an exceedingly creditable one. We have crossed bats with some of the largest universities and colleges in the South and have held our own with them or defeated them. We have played Vanderbilt University to a tie on their home grounds, and among others have defeated the University of Tennessee and the University of Chattanooga. During the season of 1908-09, we won fifteen out of eighteen games played, and defeated the excellent Mayville Cellege team three times in succession on their home grounds. Owing to more stringent regulations regarding absence from the college, fewer games were played during the season of 1909-10; but our record has none the less been a thoroughly creditable one. The lineup and schedule for 1909-10 follow, in detail.

FOREWORD

Every institution must be, in the last analysis, the embodiment of an idea. Colleges, like men, possess many traits in common; but like men too, each exhibits an individuality of its own. The distinctive idea back of Milligan College is that of CHAR-ACTER BUILDING, FIRST OF ALL. The peculiar environment of the College, its seclusion, the religious and moral atmosphere which surrounds it, and the dominant aims of its Faculty and those who have it in charge, to say nothing of the cherished legacy of the past, all conspire to further the realization of the ideal it has in view. He who wrote, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," embodied to the fullest the educational ideal of Milligan.

LOCATION AND HISTORY

Milligan College is located in Carter County, Tennessee, about twenty-four miles from the North Carolina line and twenty-five miles from the Virginia line at Bristol. It is one hundred and six miles by rail from Knoxville, Tennessee; one hundred and seventy-five miles by rail from Roanoke, Virginia; and one hundred and fifty-one miles from Asheville, North Carolina. The main line of the Southern railroad runs three miles below it, the nearest station being Johnson City. The C. C. & O. R. R. passes two miles south of the College at the station of Ocolona, and also passes through Johnson City. The E. T. & W. N. C. R. R., connecting Johnson City with Cranberry, N. C., runs one-half mile from the campus at its station of Milligan College.

Early History—The State of Franklin—King's Mountain—The Boone Tree

The College is located in that section of Tennesese which once formed part of the long defunct State of Franklin-a commonwealth whose brief but romantic existence was terminated in a battle fought only a short distance from the site now occupied by the College grounds. Two miles to the north, at Sycamore Shoals, the American volunteers who fought the decisive battle of King's Mountain started on the famous march which in the opinion of a competent historian was the turning point of the American Revolution. Upon the Board of Trustees of Milligan College are gentlemen who are lineal descendents of these King's Mountain veterans, while in its faculty list is included the name of one who is a direct descendent of the brave but misguided Tory who led the British hosts upon the day of the battle. In the month of June, 1910, a shaft was unveiled at Sycamore Shoals, under the auspices of the D. A. R., commemorating the departure of the King's Mountain volunteers. The principal oration upon this occasion was delivered by United States Senator Robert L. Taylor, an alumnus of Milligan College, who has been three times Governor of and is now the Senior Senator from, the State of Tennessee.

After Sycamore Shoals and the days of King's Mountain, came Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett. Boone's original trail passed only a few miles west of the College; and at Boone's Creek, about eight miles south, there is shown to this day a mighty oak tree with the following inscription carved upon it:

"D Boon Cild Bar."

Whether the illustrious Daniel actually performed the feat at this place, which tradition and this inscription attribute to him, we do not know; but the unique orthography was certainly D. Boone's own, and the tree is old enough to substantiate the legend. One of the annual College pilgrimages leads to this tree, which is conveniently reached either by rail or by driving. Davy Crockett was born at Limestone, on the Southern Railroad eighteen miles below Johnson City; and legends dealing with his early prowess and history are numerous throughout this section.

Early History of the College-Its Founding and Administration

The site of Milligan College, with its superb view of the majestic Buffalo Mountain and the silver waters of the Buffalo Creek flowing just below, was early chosen as an ideal spot for an institution of learning. Before the Civil War, a school was established which was attended by many men who afterward became illustrious in the history not only of Tennessee but also of the nation. After the War between the States, this school was given the name of Buffalo Institute, and numbered among its students both "Bob" and "Alf" Taylor, as well as other men who achieved prominence in national and civic life. During this time the institution was largely under the direction of Colonel Barker, a man whose talented and lovable character left its impress upon the future history of the College. In 1880 a young man from Kentucky, by the name of Josephus Hopwood, came to Carter County in search of a place to found an institution of learning built upon the broad foundation of Christian culture, a clean heart and a clean life. Buffalo Institute was turned over to him; and in 1882 the old name was changed to Milligan College, after the sainted character whose history is given elsewhere in detail. Professor Hopwood always regarded Robert Milligan as the highest embodiment of ideal manhood he had met, and therefore named the College, which he designed as an instrument for the development of Christian character among men and women, after his beloved teacher. For twentythree years from 1880 to 1903, President Hopwood directed the destinies of Milligan College. The story of those twenty-three years of disinterested, unselfish service for God and the world is written, not in books or upon marble, but in the hearts and lives of hundreds of men and women who are scattered all over America, and who are blessing humanity because they were given high ideals of life at Milligan College. Many privations were endured during these years, privations known only to those who bore them and to the Recording Angel who wrote them down. In 1903, President Hopwood relinquished the burden he had borne so long to one who had graduated under him and who was associated with him for years as a teacher. No finer spirited man, or one more loval to those ideals of Service and Purity which belong to the heritage of Milligan, could have been found than Henry R. Garrett. Unselfish Service was the keynote of his life at Milligan; and after five years of labor, largely worn out by his efforts, aided by bodily sickness, he was obliged to seek a warmer climate in the dry atmosphere of Western Texas. President Garrett's mantle fell upon another young man, Frederick D. Kershner, a native of Maryland and a graduate of Kentucky University and of Princeton. President Kershner took charge of the College in the spring of 1908, and the work has progressed rapidly since that time. The enrolment in 1907-1908 was 167; in 1908-1909, 193; in 1909-1910, 268, and in 1910-1911, 275. The same ideals of life which ruled under the former administrations obtain today, and the same emphasis upon purity and cleanness of living and the development of Christian character, remains as the core of the Milligan Spirit.

Over two hundred—212 to be exact—students have been graduated from Milligan College since the first class left its halls in 1882. A host of young men and women who were not able to complete their education were also instructed during this period. The aim of the College has been toward higher ideals, not only of character, but also of scholarship; and the work has been constantly graded up with this end in view. Where honesty of purpose is inculcated, there will be thoroughness of work; and this has always been true of Milligan men and women, as the records of the alumni clearly disclose. We do not believe the statement to be boastful that no college can claim a larger percentage of successful graduates than Milligan, success being defined as the living of an honest, influential and altruistic life.

Life of Robert Milligan

It seems altogether appropriate that a brief account of the life of the man whose honored name the College wears should be included in its literature, and the following statement, abridged from a longer article contained in John T. Brown's Churches of Christ, is therefore given here.

Robert Milligan was born in Tyrone, a county of the most northern province of Ireland, July 25th, 1814. In 1818 he was brought to the United States by his parents, John and Margaret Milligan, who settled in Trumbull county, Ohio, which was afterward the native county of the late President McKinley. In 1831 he entered Zelienople Academy, in Beaver county, Pa., and, in 1833, a classical academy, conducted by a graduate of the University of Edinburgh at Jamestown in the same state. As one of nine children of parents in moderate circumstances, he had to begin life for himself before he had completed his collegiate training. Accordingly, in 1837, he opened a school at Flat rock, in Bourbon county, Ky. A careful study of the New Testament, in the original Greek, resulted in his immersion, on March 11th, 1838, by Elder John Irvin, of the Church of Christ at Cane Ridge.

Earnestly desiring the advantages of a collegiate education, he left Kentucky in 1839, with the intention of entering Yale College. His journey over the National Road brought him to Washington, Pa. A delay, occasioned probably by his unwillingness to travel on the Lord's Day, led to his remaining in Washington, where he could attend what was then called Washington College, and where he could, at the same time, worship with the small congregation of disciples in the neighboring village of Martinsburg. Graduated in 1840, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, which had then a very definite meaning, he was at once promoted from the tutorship, which he had held in the college before his graduation, to the professorship of the English language and literature; and during a part of that time, he gave instruction in Greek and Latin classics also. Meanwhile, in 1842, he married Miss Ellen Blaine Russell, of Washington, whose father at the time, and one of whose brothers afterwards, represented the Bedford (Pa.) district in congress. In 1843, Professor Milligan received from his alma mater the degree of Master of Arts; in 1844 he was ordained a minister of the gospel, with imposition of the hands of Elder Thomas Campbell, the venerable father of Alexander Campbell; and in 1849 or 1850, he was transferred to the department of chemistry and natural history. When in 1852 the college was placed under the control of the Presbyterian Synod of Wheeling, he insisted on the acceptance of his resignation, that the institution might be wholly in the hands of those who were entitled to guide its fortunes.

Invited at once to Bloomington, Ind., he held first the chair of mathematics, and then that of chemistry, natural philosophy and astronomy, in Indiana University. The degree of Doctor of Divinity, which was tendered him by the University, he declined. Resigning his professorship at Bloomington, because of the ill health of his son, he accepted in 1854 the chair of mathematics and astronomy in Bethany College, in what was then a part of Virginia. Besides the duties of his professorship, he discharged those of an elder of the church at Bethany; and for three years, beginning with 1857, he was a co-editor of the Millenial Harbinger.

In May of 1857 he was elected President of Bacon College at Harrodsburg, Ky. The name of the institution having in the meantime been changed, he was inaugurated President of Kentucky University, on Wednesday, September 21st, 1859, which was the third day of the first session under the new name. After the destruction of the college building by fire, in February of 1864, had made the removal of the institution from Harrodsburg necessary, he was a member of the committee that decided in favor of removal to Lexington. When Kentucky University, which had now attained university proportions, was reorganized in 1865, with its founder as the head of the associated colleges, President Milligan was placed at the head of the College of the Bible, a place most congenial to his tastes and purposes, which he filled until his last illness.

As an author, President Milligan, in addition to his Tract on Prayer, which he had written before, composed during the last ten years of his life the volumes entitled Reason and Revelation, The Scheme of Redemption, The Great Commission, Analysis of the Gospels and Acts, and, which was published as a posthumous work, Commentary on Hebrews.

He died peacefully, in full possession of his faculties, and surrounded in his home by his family and by friends, on March 20, 1875. His death was lamented in the communities in which he had lived, and was deplored throughout the Christian Brotherhood. The Apostolic Times concluded its announcement of his decease with "A Prince has this day fallen in Israel;" the American Christian Review declared that he was one of those "of whom the world was not worthy;" and President John W. McGarvey, his friend and colaborer in the College of the Bible, in the funeral discourse which he pronounced, summed up the general estimate of his character in the words that are repeated on his monument in the Lexington cemetery: "He was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith."

Altitude and Healthfulness of Location

Milligan College has an altitude of 1740 feet. It is only four miles from Buffalo Mountain, over 4,000 feet high, and twelve miles from Roan Mountain, 6,000 feet. Mt. Mitchell, the highest peak in America east of the Rockies, is located only forty miles to the east, and is reached from Milligan via the C. C. & O. R.R. The climate is temperate, and perhaps the most perfect illustration of that of the temperate zone. The air is remarkably pure, there is an abundance of pure water, and all natural advantages for school life would seem to be possessed by this favored section of Eastern America. Criticism has sometimes been directed against the large number of schools and colleges in East Tennessee. The reason for this apparent crowding of institutions lies in the fact that the location is practically ideal for school purposes. With modern railroad facilities, it is far better that a school should be located well from the point of view of healthfulness and climate than from the point of view of purely geographical fitness.

PART II

THE PERSONNEL OF MILLIGAN COLLEGE

The Board of Trustees

The Charter of Milligan College provides that its property shall be owned and controlled by a Board of Trustees consisting of thirtythree members, one-third of whom or eleven members shall be elected each year by the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society, when assembled in Annual Convention. The control and ownership of the College is thus vested in the Christian Churches of Tennessee. The membership of the Board of Trustees is not, however, limited to any religious body, nor by any state or territorial requirements. The Board of Control, or Executive Committee of the Institution, is composed of nine members, five of whom constitute a quorum for business.

The following gentlemen constitute the Board of Trustees:

I

Collegiate Department

Requirements for Admission

All candidates for admission to the College must offer satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and those coming from other colleges must present letters of honorable dismissal.

From the point of view of scholarship, students are admitted to Milligan College in one of three ways:

First-By certificate from the Milligan Academy, no examination whatever being required in this case.

Second—By certificate showing at least fifteen units of work from a High School or Preparatory School accredited by the State University of the state in which said school is located. Students admitted in this way are placed upon a probationary requirement which provides that a failure to make the usual number of credits during the first session involves the student in the entrance examinations outlined below.

Third—By examination. The examination covers the following requirements:

I-English, three units.

(a) Grammar and Composition (1 unit). Spelling, Punctuation, Paragraphing, Syntax complete. The fundamental principles of Rhetoric and Composition. The ability to write easy descriptions and narrations.

(b) Outline course in English and American Literature, (I unit). The history of the more important periods and some knowledge of the authors and their representative works. Such knowledge as should be gained from a good one-volume text in the history of English Literature with collateral reading.

(c) College Entrance Requirements in English, (1 unit). For reading, Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and The Merchant of Venice; Goldsmith's Deserted Village; Scott's Ivanhoe; George Eliot's Silas Marner; Irving's Sketch Book; DeQuincey's Joan of Arc, and Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Scott's Lady of the Lake. For study and practice, Shakespeare's Macbeth; Milton's Lycidas, Comus and Shorter Poems; Burke's Conciliation; Macaulay's Life of Johnson; Carlyle's Essay on Burns.

II-Mathematics, three units.

(a) Algebra, (1 unit). A good elementary text to quadratics. Thorough knowledge of factoring, least common multiple and linear equations, both numerical and literal, containing one or more unknown quantities.

(b) Plane Geometry, complete, (1 unit).

(c) Solid Geometry, (1-2 unit).

(d) Advanced Algebra, (1-2 unit).

Algebra from quadratics, Progressions. Binominal Theorem. Ratio and Proportion. One-half year's work with a comparatively advanced text.

III-History, three units.

(a) Ancient History, including one year's work, five hours per week, in the history of Greece and Rome. (1 unit).

(b) Mediaeval and Modern History, (1 unit).

One year's work with a satisfactory text, five hours per week.

(c) American History and Civil Government. (1 unit).

A full year's work, five hours per week.

Other work in history of an equivalent grade will be accepted, providing credits show the time spent in the study to be the same as required here.

IV-Science, three and one-half units.

(a) Physics, (one unit). An elementary course, pursued one full year, with laboratory demonstrations.

(b) Chemistry, (1 unit). A course similar to the requirements in Physics.

(c) Botany, (1-2 unit). A half year's outline course.

(d) Zoology, (1-2 unit). A half year's outline course.

(e) Physiography, (1-2 unit). The subject complete.

V-Latin, four units.

(a) Grammar and composition. Easy translation. (1 unit).

(b) Caesar, four books, with Composition. (I unit).

(c) Cicero, six orations with drill in syntax. (I unit).

(d) Vergil, six books with prosody. (I unit).

VI-Modern Languages, four units.

Two years full work in either French or German, embracing a thorough knowledge of the forms, together with ordinary skill in composition, and the ability to read easy prose at sight. Two units credit given in either language, but no entrance credit given for a single year's work considered alone.

Milligan College Year-Book

Fifteen units are required for admission, of which three must be offered in English, two in Mathematics, two in Foreign Languages, one in History and one in Science. The remainder must be selected in harmony with the particular course elected for pursuit in the College, as outlined below.

Matriculation of Students

Students upon their arrival should report at once to the President of the College in the College Office. The President will fill out the proper blanks and then send the student to the Treasurer; after receiving the receipt of the latter for the term fees (see item "Expenses" under "Miscellaneous Information"), the matriculate will go to the Secretary of the College who will enroll him upon the permanent records of the institution, thereby completing the matriculation.

Requirements for Degrees

The full requirements for the various undergraduate degrees are given in tabulated form, elsewhere in the Catalogue.

For the degree of Master of Arts, the student must have received the B. A. degree, and must pursue at least two full years' work under the special direction of the Faculty. The preparation of a satisfactory thesis is also required. For the degree of Master of Science, the possession of some other academic degree than that of B. A., together with the completion of two full years' graduate study, and a satisfactory thesis, are required.

Tabulated Requirements for the different degrees

(In every case the necessary fifteen units required for admission to the College are presupposed).

Π

THE ROBERT MILLIGAN BIBLE SCHOOL

The Robert Milligan Bible School has grown out of the needs of religious work in the South. Its aim is to furnish an adequate preparation for the ministry of the Gospel on the part of those who complete the work assigned. The ideals which govern those who have charge of the school are entirely opposed to any legalistic or formalistic interpretation of Christianity. On the contrary, they assume that the one need of the world today is the vital, living Christ, with His message of supreme tenderness and love. To see somewhat of that message, to become enthused with it, and to go forth to proclaim it to the world, they conceive to be the mission of the preacher. The school aims always at thoroughness of prepararation and accuracy of scholarship rather than mere numerical display. It appeals to all those who have the ideal of quality rather than quantity in the ministry.

Unswerving fidelity to the Word, and thorough devotion to the Christ are the appropriate watchwords of a school bearing the name of one of the noblest of all God's noblemen since the apostolic age. And surely no place could be better adapted by location and environment to preserve and cherish the spirit of Robert Milligan than the spot which bears his honored name.

Requirements for Admission

To enter the Freshman Class of the Robert Milligan Bible School, a student must give evidence, by examination or otherwise, that he has completed satisfactorily the College Preparatory requirements in English, Mathematics, History and Science.

Requirements for Graduation

The Robert Milligan Bible School does not confer degrees. It does, however, grant an appropriate diploma upon the completion of either the Classical or the English course. These diplomas are certificates of merit, and carry with them quite as much value as the usual academic degrees. Graduates in either course, with very little additional work, may secure the regular degrees conferred by the College upon completing the required courses of study. The fee for the Bible School Diploma is $3.00.

ш

THE ACADEMY

Two objects are kept in view in arranging the courses of study and directing the Academy: first, to offer preparation for College, which will be sufficient in quality to admit a student to the Freshman Class of any College or University; second, to provide for young men and women who may be denied the advantage of a college course, as much training and culture as is possible in a four year's course of academic work in secondary school.

The courses of study are arranged to meet the individual needs of the student. Under the advice of the director of the Academy, every opportunity is afforded the student to progress in his work of preparation as rapidly as is consistent with thoroughness and good scholarship.

The work and discipline of the Academy is under the supervision of the Dean of the College, who is ex officio director of the preparatory schools. The Academy is in close touch with the College. The President and Faculty of the College also give special attention to the work of the Academy and in certain subjects the instruction is by College professors. In every department, the instruction is thorough, and special effort is made that the student may at all times feel the personal impress of the instructor. The students of the Academy enjoy all the privileges of the library and reading room, and the advantages of the athletics of the college.

The young ladies attending the Academy from abroad are required, except when other arrangements are allowed by the President, to reside in the Mee Memorial Hall, which is a pleasant home of refined influences.

Study Hall

Students are required to study in the Study Hall provided for the purpose, under the scheduled regulations, unless excused by the Director of the Academy.

Admission

Completion of the course of study in the elementary schools is required for admission to the Academy. Certificates from teachers or school officers certifying that the student has completed the work in Elementary English Grammar, Practical Arithmetic, United States History and Complete Geography will ordinarily be accepted in lieu of examination in these subjects. Students wishing to enter without such certificates may be examined on these subjects during the first three days of school. Students conditioned in one or more of the above named studies will have to make up that condition in the Elementary School during the first year of the Academy course.

Choice of Courses

Students may, by and with the advice and consent of the Director of the Academy, choose a course of study differing from the Curriculum; but when the course is chosen and the classes entered, no change will be made after the beginning of the fourth week of school. The work of each course should be taken in order from the beginning, but the Director for sufficient reasons may give permission to vary the order.

Substitutions

Studies in one course may be substituted for those of another provided the credit is the same, and the Director is satisfied that the substitution will be for the best; but in the Classical and Literary courses, no substitution will be made for Latin. In the third and fourth years, Greek may be substituted for equivalent units other than Latin.

A credit or unit means the equivalent of five prepared recitations a week for one scholastic year or not less than one hundred and fifty (150) recitations, two periods of laboratory work being considered equivalent to one period of recitation work.

Rhetoricals and Exercises

All the students shall perform Rhetorical work throughout the year under the direction of the Director of the Academy.

Graduation

Students who satisfactorily complete a course of study offered in the Academy shall be granted a diploma certifying that fact, but in all cases the conduct of a student must be satisfactory before the honors of graduation can be conferred.

Schedule of Studies

Below is submitted a schedule of studies. Each course continues throughout one year, unless otherwise stated.

The average amount of work required of each student is twenty periods in recitation per week. No student will be assigned less work than this except for reason.

VI

Mr. Melvin M. Knight

The aim of the Commercial Department is to be complete and practical. The courses are designed, work outlined, text-books selected, and everything planned with the one design of giving the student everything necessary in training and equipment, to enable him to fill completely the positions in the actual commercial world of today, for which the work he takes is supposed to be a preparation, and to tax his time and energies with as little as possible that is not directly useful. The courses usually offered in Business Colleges throughout the country, are taught here as follows:

I-STENOGRAPHY AND TYPEWRITING

(a) SHORTHAND. There is a great deal of irrelevant, polemical discussion indulged in over the merits of different shorthand systems. We do not believe the matter of choice of system to be nearly so vital as diligent application to the one selected, until its principles have become mastered by study and their application has grown natural and easy through practice. We give students their choice of either the Graham or the Gregg systems. The former is usually conceded to be the most rapid of the Pitmanic systems; while the latter is the best known, and we believe, everything considered, the best, of the light-line positionless systems. The course consists of the regular texts with practice matter for dictation work.

(b) TYPEWRITING. Typewriting by touch is so far and so obviously superior to the old method, that we compel all students to learn "absolute touch," and deal shortly with any indications of a tendency to drift into the clumsy sight-writing. Students practice two hours each school day on new standard machines. A rental of 50c per week, $2.00 per month, is charged for the use of the machines, payable in advance; or students may furnish their own machines.

(c) STENOGRAPHERS' BUSINESS PRACTICE. The short-hand and typewriting work is supplemented by two weeks of actual office work, involving the taking and transcribing of business letters, the use of those business forms with which a stenographer must be acquainted, copying, filing, card-indexing systems, and everything the student will find in a modern office.

II-BOOKKEEPING AND OFFICE PRACTICE

This course will make competent business bookkeepers of those who conscientiously pursue and finish it. It includes "Practical Bookkeeping," a thorough and up-to-date text-book, and "Twentieth Century Business Practice," a practice course in which the student actually keeps in succession five different sets of books, in different kinds of business, making all the transactions and handling all the business papers, cash, etc., with which he would have to deal in keeping the books of a modern business enterprise. A Supplementary Course gives instruction in Bank Accounting, by the same methods.

III—COMMERCIAL LAW

A comprehensive course in the laws of business with which business men should be familiar. Study and recitation from a good Commercial College Text, two hours weekly, alternating with the Penmanship Course.

IV-BUSINESS PENMANSHIP

We teach the well-known "Palmer Method of Business Writing," which develops a rapid, easy, legible, business hand—that which the business world of today demands. Practice, under instructor's supervision, three hours per week, alternating with Commercial Law.

DIPLOMAS

Two diplomas are granted for Commercial work, one in Stenography and the other in Bookkeeping.

(a) STENOGRAPHY. To receive the Stenographer's Diploma, the student must satisfactorily complete the course, must pass an examination in Shorthand and in Typewriting, and must be proficient in Spelling, English Grammar and Rhetoric. The Shorthand examination covers the taking of dictation from new matter from different sources at a speed of one hundred words per minute, and reading same back accurately and correctly from the Shorthand notes. The standard for typewriting is a copying speed of fifty words per minute from unfamiliar matter of different kinds, five words to be deducted for each error. The Diploma fee is $3.00.

(b) BOOKKEEPING. Students who satisfactorily complete the course in Bookkeeping, furnish evidence of competency, and pass an examination in Commercial Law, and who write a plain business hand, will be granted an Accountants' Diploma, on payment of the Diploma fee of $3.00.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Buildings

The College buildings are three in number. The main building, a substantial brick structure, containing the recitation rooms, chapel, library and society halls, occupies the center of the campus. It has been newly refitted, painted and papered. The Young Men's Home, a two-story frame building containing nearly thirty rooms, plainly furnished but affording substantial accommodations for students, is located to the rear of the main building.

The Frances T. and Columbus A. Mee Memorial Hall

Through the munificence of Mrs. Frances T. Mee, of Cleveland, Tenn., we now have free of debt our spacious and handsomely furnished young ladies' dormitory. Mee Hall is a three-story brick structure, opened the first time for the season of 1908-09. It contains thirty-two rooms, with reception rooms and parlor, has hot and cold water on each floor, is handsomely furnished, and is heated by steam. Rooms in this building should be engaged as soon as possible, as a number had already been reserved when the Catalogue went to press.

Grounds

The College campus contains over thirty acres of ground. A large and beautiful grove, each tree of which was planted by some former student, surrounds the main building. There are excellent ball grounds and tennis courts for the use of the student body.

Libraries

The College maintains three libraries: (1) the Old Library, containing mostly reference books and government or statistical publications; (2) the Reading Room, containing the later reference works and about three thousand volumes of standard literature; and (3) The Number Nine Library, containing about two thousand volumes dealing principally with theological or Biblical literature. These libraries are all available for student use under the proper restrictions.

The new Reading Room is supplied with all the standard magazines and periodicals. The list of last year was as follows: Dailies-Baltimore American, Chattanooga Times, Knoxville Journal and Tribune, Johnson City Staff, Bristol News. Weeklies-Christian Standard, Outlook, Independent, Christian Exangelist, Saturday Evening Post, Nation, Scientific American, Dial, Harper's Weekly, Harper's Bazar, Collier's, Commoner, Literary Digest. Monthlies-Gentury, Harper's, N. Am. Review, Cosmopolitan, Hampton's, American, McClure's, Everybody's, Ladies' Home Journal, St. Nicholas, Delineator, Forum, Review of Reviews, Current Literature, Atlantic Monthly, Bookman, Missionary' Review of the World, Musician, Outing, World Today, World's Work, Physical Culture, Human Life, Tennessee Christian, Missionary Intelligencer, Advocate of Peace, The Labor Digest.

LITERARY SOCIETIES, PUBLICATIONS, ETC. Literary Societies

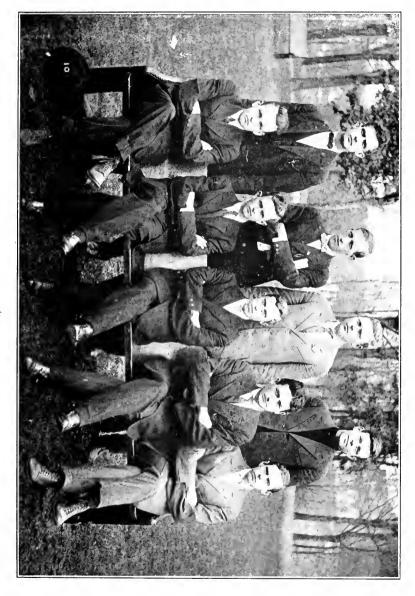

The literary societies are four in number—The American, Adelphian and Ciceronian for young men, and the Ossolian for young ladies. They do excellent work during the year, giving public performances upon stated occasions.

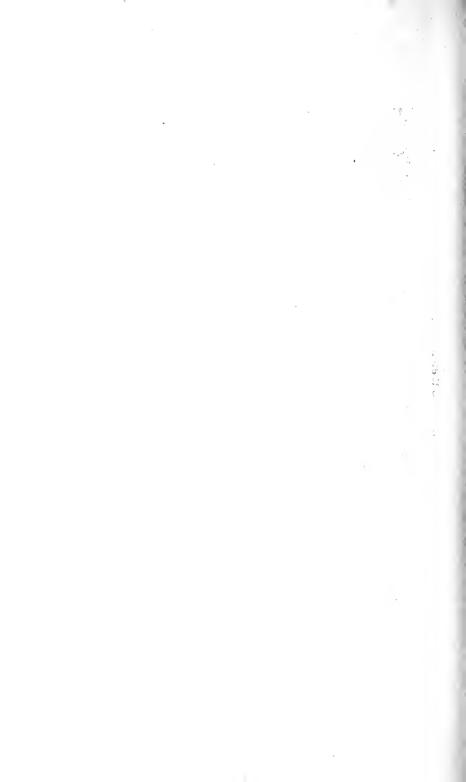

Contests

Through the munificence of two of our alumni, Mr. Oscar M. Fair (1903) and Mr. George E. Lyon (1891), two prize oratorical contests are held during the week of Commencement exercises. The George E. Lyon Contest is open to all students, irrespective of age or class, while the Oscar M. Fair Contest is between the representatives of the Literary Societies of the College. The Fair contest carries with it a first prize of $15 in gold, a second prize of $10 in gold, and a gavel made of wood from Lookout Mountain for the successful society.

Honors

The average grades for the entire length of time spent in school are printed upon the Commencement programs. The student in the Classical Course sustaining the highest general average is awarded the Valedictory. The student sustaining the highest average in any other course, is awarded the Salutatory; and the student sustaining the highest average in any course after those of the Valedictorian and Salutatorian is awarded the Class Oration.

Milligan College Year-Book

The New Horizon

The student body publishes a monthly paper entitled "The New Horizon," which is managed and directed by the students at large, and which affords considerable scope for reportorial and literary talent.

ш

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Student Behavior

Students are expected to deport themselves as ladies and gentlemen—above all, as those who are, or expect to be, Christian men and women. No profanity is permitted on the grounds, nor is the use of alcohol or tobacco in any form allowed. Insubordination, or violation of the laws of the school will lead to expulsion and permanent exclusion from its privileges.

Class Absences

Five unexcused absences in any one study will suspend the student thus absent.

Age Limit in Young Men's Dormitory

Boys under fifteen years of age are not allowed to room in the young men's dormitory.

Conduct in Examinations

By a resolution of the Faculty, adopted May 2d, 1910, it was determined that in all classes in the College, the penalty for any sort of dishonesty on the part of students in examinations shall be, in the first instance, "Suspension from that class in which the offence occurred, for the term, with the loss of all credit for the term's work in the aforesaid class, no opportunity for making up said work to be permitted until the scholastic year following. For a second offence by the same party, the penalty shall be snspension from the College for the term in which the offence was committed, with the loss of all credits for the term's work."

It was also resolved, "That in all cases, the student accused of dishonesty shall be given a fair trial, and conviction shall follow an affirmative vote of three-fourths of the membership of the entire faculty."

Organization of Classes

The College makes no provision for the organization in any department of classes in which less than five students have signified their intention of taking up the work.

Breakage

The parents or guardians of students are held responsible for any breakage or damage done to property or furniture.

Outside Board

Young ladies attending the College are not permitted to board outside of the Home, except with the express approval of their parents and special permission from the faculty.

IV

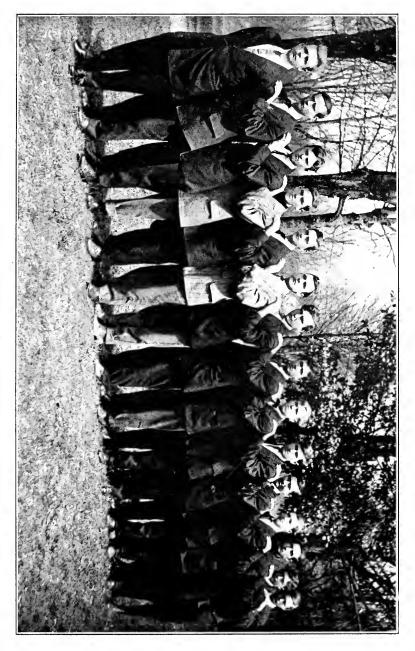

SCHOLARSHIPS AND BEQUESTS

Milligan Endowment

Through the kindness of Professor Alexander R. Milligan of Lexington, Ky., who gave $5,000 for the purpose in December, 1909, we now have the nucleus of a permanent endowment fund. This fund ought to be increased to at least $100,000 in order to enable Milligan College to accomplish the work it can and ought to do.

Scholarships

Those who cannot help with the permanent endowment may find it possible to endow named scholarships in the institution. The sum of $800 will endow a perpetual scholarship, carrying with it the tuition expenses of one student for every year. The sum of $2,000 will endow a ministerial scholarship, carrying with it the board, room, heat, light, and tuition expense of one student in the ministerial course each year. The sum of $2,500 will endow a similar scholarship for a young lady in any of the regular collegiate courses.

Annual scholarships providing for student expense, year by year, may be contributed individually as follows: forty dollars, in four equal payments, will constitute a named tuition scholarship for the year; and one hundred dollars, in ten equal payments, will constitute a named ministerial scholarship for one year. Churches, Endeavor or Ladies Aid Societies, and even Sunday School Classes should provide scholarships of the kind for worthy students among their number or elsewhere.

Form of Bequest

Many friends of Milligan College will doubtless be glad to help its work, after they have passed from this earth to their reward. In this way, they will be able to originate a stream of influence, continuing throughout eternity. The following, or an equivalent form, should be used in your will, which should fully describe real estate, and should be signed by you, in the presence of witnesses, whose signatures should likewise appear:

"I give and bequeath to Milligan College of Tennessee, an institution chartered under the laws of the State of Tennessee, and located at Milligan College, Carter County, Tennessee, the sum of $..... (or if real estate, let location and description appear at this point) for the use of said institution in conducting its work of education; and the receipt of the secretary of the said institution for the above-named sum, (or described property) shall constitute a release for my executor for the same."

RELIGIOUS AND MORAL ATMOSPHERE College Spirit

The greatest and best inheritance of Milligan is its "college spirit." It is not of the kind which delights to express itself in rowdyism and profanity; but rather is a clean, pure, healthful moral tone which irresistably permeates the whole student body. The very air of Milligan breathes purity and high-toned Christian character.

Outside Board

Furnished room with board can be secured outside the College in private families at from $9.00 to $12.50 per month, the usual price being $10.00 to $12.00.

Fees

The only fees connected with the College are the following: (A) Library fee of one dollar, charged each student upon matriculation, and the proceeds applied strictly to the purchase of books and magazines for the Library.

(B) Matriculation fee of $10.00 charged all students in the English Ministerial Course, who do not room and board in the College dormitory. This fee will also admit anyone to all lecture courses in the College, but not to class room work or examination.

Combination Courses and Total Expenses Estimated

For the benefit of those young ladies who desire to take music chiefly, we have a special musical course, giving either vocal or instrumental music and a maximum of two English studies for $75.00 per term, in advance, for everything (board, room, heat, light, tuition, etc.)

The total necessary expense of a student at Milligan College varies from $100.00 per year to $175.00. $140.00 for a young man, and $150.00 for a young lady, is a good general average. The Milligan rates do not aim at the cheapness which negates comfort; nor on the other hand, do they embody more than the actual expense which comfort brings.

Diploma Fees

The fee for the Bachelor's Diploma is in all cases $5.00. The fee for the Master's Degree is $10.00. The fee for the Ministerial Diploma in either the English or the Classical Course is $3.00. The fee for either of the Business Diplomas is also $3.00.

Laundry and Incidental Expenses

Laundry costs from 75c to $2.00 per month, in accordance with the amount. Incidental expenses are at a minimum at Milligan College. There is no reason why a student should spend anything beyond the smallest possible allowance for expenses outside of College charges.

Terms of Payment

All tuition and room rent bills, for the term, are payable strictly IN ADVANCE, and payment must be arranged for at the time of matriculation. Board is payable weekly, IN ADVANCE, as elsewhere stated. In all cases, where the student leaves during the term, no refund or deduction of tuition or room rent will be made, unless by special action of the Executive Committee. The justice of the latter regulation will become apparent when it is understood that a room vacated during the term cannot be filled except in rare instances, before the opening of the next term.

Location

The College is located three miles from Johnson City, and half a mile from the Milligan College station on the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina Railroad. It is surrounded by a small village named Milligan College in honor of the institution.

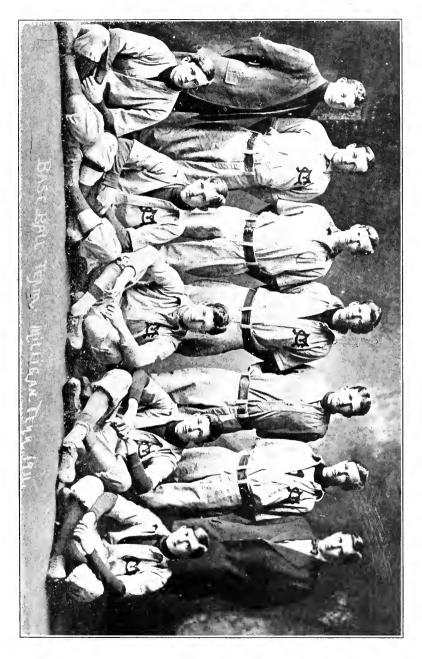

The location is one of the most beautiful in America. The Watauga River flows only a short distance below the grounds, and the scenery around the College is unsurpassed in natural beauty and grandeur.

Healthfulness

One of the most important considerations in selecting a college is its healthfulness of location. Other advantages amount to but little without this, the most valuable of all. In the thirty yearss of its history, no serious epidemic has been known at Milligan. The purity of the air, the excellent water, and the splendid advantages for physical development, have been chiefly responsible for this condition.

Young Ladies' Home

The rules governing the conduct of girls in our young ladies' home, while strict, are not burdensome. The greatest care is exercised by those who have the young ladies in charge, and parents may safely trust their daughters in our hands. We have a thoroughly efficient and capable Dean of Women, and an experienced matron in charge of the housekeeping department. The young ladies' rooms are extra large, well ventilated, equipped with new furniture, and are comfortable in every sense of the term. We furnish exceptionally good board for the prices charged. There are few places in the world where a young lady can secure a thorough education at so little expense, as at Milligan.

What to Furnish

Students boarding at the homes will furnish their own toilet articles, towels, napkins, pillow cases and sheets, and one blanket each.

Monday Holiday

Monday instead of Saturday is the regular weekly holiday.

Two Terms

The school year is divided into two terms, or semesters, of eighteen weeks each.

Text Books

Text-books can be purchased at publishers' price from the College book store. All purchases at the store are strictly cash. Nearly all necessary books can be secured second-hand, thus reducing the expense for books to a minimum.

VIII

ATHLETICS

Milligan College has always maintained a fine record as regards athletics. In common with the more advanced educational ideals, we do not play football at all; but baseball, basketball, tennis, and other legitimate games are encouraged, within proper bounds, and in accordance with the regulations mentioned elsewhere in the catalogue. The record of the Milligan baseball team during the past number of years has been an exceedingly creditable one. We have crossed bats with some of the largest universities and colleges in the South and have held our own with them or defeated them. We have played Vanderbilt University to a tie on their home grounds, and among others have defeated the University of Tennessee and University of Chattanooga. During the season of 1908-09, we won fifteen out of eighteen games. Owing to more stringent regulations regarding absence from the College, fewer games were played during the season of 1909-10; but our record was even better than that of the preceding year, our team winning all twelve of the games played. The record for 1910-11 was almost equally good. The line-up and record of games for 1910-11 follow, in detail:

FOREWORD

Every institution must be, in the last analysis, the embodiment of an idea. Colleges, like men, possess many traits in common; but like men too, each exhibits an individuality of its own. The distinctive idea back of Milligan College is that of CHARAC-TER BUILDING, FIRST OF ALL. The peculiar environment of the College, its seclusion, the religious and moral atmosphere which surrounds it, and the dominant aims of its Faculty and those who have in charge, to say nothing of the cherished legacy of the past, all conspire to further the realization of the ideal it has in view. He who wrote, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," embodied to the fullest the educational ideal of Milligan.

PART I

LOCATION AND HISTORY

Milligan College is located in Carter County, Tennessee, about twenty-four miles from the North Carolina line and twenty-five miles from the Virginia line at Bristol. It is one hundred and six miles by rail from Knoxville, Tennessee; one hundred and seventy-five miles by rail from Roanoke, Virginia; and one hundred and fifty-one miles from Asheville, North Carolina. The main line of the Southern railroad runs three miles below it, the nearest station being Johnson City. The C., C. & O. R. R. passes two miles south of the College at the station of Ocolona, and also passes through Johnson City. The E. T. & W. N. C. R. R., connecting Johnson City with Cranberry, N. C., runs one-half mile from the campus at its station of Milligan College.

Early History-The State of Franklin-King's Mountain-Boone Tree

The College is located in that section of Tennessee which once formed part of the long defunct State of Franklin-a commonwealth whose brief but romantic existence was terminated in a battle fought only a short distance from the site now occupied by the College grounds. Two miles to the north, at Sycamore Shoals, the American volunteers who fought the decisive battle of King's Mountain started on the famous march which in the opinion of a competent historian was the turning point of the American Revolution. Upon the Board of Trustees of Milligan College are gentlemen who are lineal descndents of these King's Mountain veterans, while in its faculty list is included the name of one who is a direct descendent of the brave but misguided Tory who led the British hosts upon the day of the battle. In the month of June, 1910, a shaft was unveiled at Sycamore Shoals, under the auspices of the D. A. R., commemorating the departure of the King's Mountain volunteers. The principal oration upon this occasion was delivered by the late U. S. Senator Robert L. Taylor, an alumnus of Milligan College, who was three times Governor of and also Senior Senator from the State of Tennessee.

After Sycamore Shoals and the days of King's Mountain, came Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett. Boone's original trail passed only a few miles west of the College; and at Bonne's Creek, about eight miles south, there is shown to this day a mighty oak tree with the following inscription carved upon it:

"D Boon Cild Bar."

Whether the illustrious Daniel actually performed the feat at this place, which tradition and this inscription attribute to him, we do not know; but the unique orthography was certainly D. Boone's own, and the tree is old enough to substantiate the legend. One of the annual College pilgrimages leads to this tree, which is conveniently reached either by rail or by driving. Davy Crockett was born at Limestone, on the Southern Railroad eighteen miles below Johnson City; and legends dealing with his early prowess and history are numerous throughout this section.

Early History of the College-Its Founding and Administration

The site of Milligan College, with its superb view of the majestic Buffalo Mountain and the silver waters of the Buffalo Creek flowing just below, was early chosen as an ideal spot for an institution of learning Before the Civil War, a school was established which was attended by many men who afterward became illustrious in the history not only of Tennessee but also of the nation. After the War between the States, this school was given the name of Buffalo Institute, and numbered among its students both "Bob" and "Alf" Taylor, as well as other men who achieved prominence in national and civic life. During this time the institution was largely under the direction of Colonel Barker, a man whose talented and lovable character left its impress upon the future history of the College. In 1880 a young man from Kentucky, by the name of Josephus Hopwood, came to Carter County in search of a place to found an institution of learning built upon the broad foundation of Christian culture, a clean heart and a clean life. Buffalo Institute was turned over to him; and in 1882 the old name was changed to Milligan College, after the sainted character whose history is given elsewhere in detail. Professor Hopwood always regarded Robert Milligan as the highest embodiment of ideal manhood he had met, and therefore named the College, which he designed as an instrument for the development of Christian character among men and women, after his beloved teacher. For twentythree years from 1880 to 1903, President Hopwood directed the destinies of Milligan College. The story of those twenty-three years of disinterested, unselfish service for God and the world is written, not in books or upon marble, but in the hearts and lives of hundreds of men and women who are scattered all over America, and who are blessing humanity because they were given high ideals of life at Milligan College. Many privations were endured during these years, privations known only to those who bore them and to the Recording Angel who wrote them down. In 1903, President Hopwood relinquished the burden he had borne so long to one who had graduated under him and who was associated with him for years as a teacher. No finer spirited man, or one more loyal to those ideals of Service and Purity which belong to the heritage of Milligan, could have been found than Henry R. Garrett. Unselfish Service was the keynote of his life at Milligan; and after five years of labor, largely worn out by his efforts, aided by bodily sickness, he was obliged to seek a warmer climate in the dry atmosphere of Western Texas. President Garrett's mantle fell upon another young man, Frederick D. Kershner, a native of Maryland and a graduate of Kentucky University and of Princeton. President Kershner took charge of the College in the spring of 1908, and the work has progressed rapidly since that time. The enrollment in 1907-1908 was 167; in 1908-1909, 193; in 1909-1910, 268; in 1910-1911, 275, and in 1911-1912, 228. President Kershner resigned soon after the opening of the session 1911-1912 and his resignation took effect Oct. 31, 1911. The Board immediately elected the Dean Tyler E. Utterback, a native of Kentucky, graduate of Kentucky University, Central University of Kentucky and Columbia University, New York, a man of large experience both as an educator and preacher. The work of the College progressed without a jar from the time he took charge as president. The same ideals of life which ruled under the former administrations obtain today, and the same emphasis upon purity and cleanness of living and the development of Christian character, remains as the core of the Milligan spirit.

Over two hundred—225 to be exact—students have been graduated from Milligan College since the first class left its halls in 1882. A host of young men and women who were not able to complete their education were also instructed during this peried. The aim of the College has been toward higher ideals, not only of character, but also of scholarship; and the work has been constantly graded up with this end in view. Where honesty of purpose is inculcated, there will be thoroughness of work; and this has always been true of Milligan men and women, as the records of the alumni clearly disclose. We do not believe the statement to be boastful that no college can claim a larger percentage of successful graduates than Milligan, success being defined as the living of an honest, influential and altruistic life.

ALTITUDE AND HEALTHFULNESS OF LOCATION

Milligan College has an altitude of 1.740 feet. It is only four miles from Buffalo Mountain, over 4,000 feet high, and twelve miles from Roan Mountain, 6,000 feet. Mt. Mitchell, the highest peak in America east of the Rockies, is located only forty miles to the east, and is reached from Milligan via the C., C. & O. R. R. The climate is temperate, and perhaps the most perfect illustration of that of the temperate zone.. The air is remarkably pure, there is an abundance of pure water, and all natural advantages for school life would seem to be possessed by this favored section of Eastern America. Criticism has sometimes been directed against the large number of schools and colleges in East Tennessee. The reason for this apparent crowding of institutions lies in the fact that the location is practically ideal for school purposes. With modern railroad facilities, it is far fetter that a school should be located well from the point of view of healthfulness and climate than from the point of view of purely geographical fitness.

PART II

THE PERSONNEL OF MILLIGAN COLLEGE

The Charter of Milligan College provides that its property shall be owned and controlled by a Board of Trustees consisting of thirtythree members, one-third of whom or eleven members shall be elected ach year by the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society, when assembled in Annual Convention. The control and ownership of the College is thus vested in the Christian Churches of Tennessee. The membership of the Board of Trustees is not, however, limitd to any religious body, nor by any state or territorial requirements. The Board of Control, or Executive Committee of the Institution, is composed of nine members, five of whom constitute a quorum for business.

I

Collegiate Department

Requirements for Admission

All candidates for admission to the College must offer satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and those coming from other colleges must present letters of honorable dismissal.

From the point of view of scholarship, students are admitted to Milligan College in one of three ways:

First—By certificate from the Milligan Academy, no examination whatever required in this case.

Second—By certificate showing at least fifteen units of work from a High School or Preparatory School accredited by the State University of the state in which said school is located. Students admitted in this way are placed upon a probationary requirement which provides that a failure to make the usual number of credits during the first session involves the student in the entrance examinations outlined below.

Third—By examination. The examination covers the following requirements:

I-English, three units.

(a) Grammar and Composition (1 unit). Spelling, Punctuation, Paragraphing, Syntax complete. The fundamental principles of Rhetoric and Composition. The ability to write easy descriptions and narrations.

(b) Outline course in English and American Literature, (I unit). The history of the more important periods and some knowledge of the authors and their representative works. Such knowledge as should be gained from a good one-volume text in the history of English Literature with collateral reading.

(c) College Entrance Requirements in English, (1 unit). For reading, Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and The Merchant of Venice; Goldsmith's Deserted Village; Scott's Ivanhoc; George Eliot's Silas Marner; Irving's Sketch Book; DeQuincey's Joan of Arc, and Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Scott's Lady of the Lake. For study and practice, Shakespeare's Macbeth; Milton's Lycidas, Comus and Shorter Poems; Burke's Conciliation; Macaulay's Life of Johnson; Carlyle's Essay on Burns.

(a) Algebra, (1 unit). A good elementary text to quadratics. Thorough knowledge of factoring, least common multiple and linear equations, both numeral and literal, containing one or more unknown quantities.

(b) Plane Geometry, complete, (1 unit).

(c) Solid Geometry, (1-2 unit).

(d) Advanced Algebra, (1-2 unit).

Algebra from quadratics, Progressions. Binominal Theorem. Ratio and Proportion. One-half year's work with a comparatively advanced text.

IV-Science, three and one-half units.

(a) Physics, (one unit). An elementary course, pursued one full year, with labratory demonstrations.

(b) Chemistry, (1 unit). A course similar to the requirements in Physics.

(c) Botany, (1-2 unit). A half year's outline course.

(d) Zoology, (1-2 unit). A half year's outline course.

(e) Physiography, (1-2 unit). The subject complete.

V-Latin, four units.

(a) Grammar and Composition. Easy translation. (1 unit).

(b) Caesar, four books, with Composition. (1 unit).

(c) Cicero, six orations with drill in syntax. (I unit).

Two years full work in either French or German, embracing a thorough knowledge of the forms, together with ordinary skill in composition, and the ability to read easy prose at sight. Two units credit given in either language, but no entrance credit given for a single year's work considered alone.

Fifteen units are required for admission, of which three must be offered in English, two in Mathematics, two in Foreign Languages, one in History and one in Science. The remainder must be selected in harmony with the particular course elected for pursuit in the College, as outlined below.

Matriculation of Students.

Students upon their arrival should report at once to the President of the College in the College Office. The President will fill out the proper blanks and then send the student to the Treasurer; after receiving the receipt of the latter for the term fees (see item "Expenses" under "Miscellaneous Information") the matriculate will go to the Secretary of the College who will enroll him upon the permanent records of the institution, thereby completing the matriculation.

Requirements for Degrees.

The full requirements for the various undergraduate degrees are given in tablulated form, elsewhere in the Catalogue.

For the degree of Master of Arts, the student must have received the B. A. degree, and must pursue at least two full years' work under the special direction of the Faculty. The preparation of a satisfactory thesis is also required. For the degree of Master of Science, the possession of some other academic degree than that of B. Π

THE ROBERT MILLIGAN BIBLE SCHOOL

The Robert Milligan Bible School has grown out of the needs of religious work in the South. Its aim is to furnish an adequate preparation for the ministry of the Gospel on the part of those who complete the work assigned. The ideals which govern those who have charge of the school are entirely opposed to any legalistic or formalistic interpretation of Christianity. On the contrary, they assume that the one need of the world today is the vital, living Christ, with His message of supreme tenderness and love. To see somewhat of that message, to become enthused with it, and to go forth to proclaim it to the world, they conceive to be the mission of the preacher. The school aims always at thoroughness of preparation and accuracy of scholarship rather than mere numercial display. It appeals to all those who have the ideal of quality rather than quantity in the ministry.

Unswerving fidelity to the Word, and thorough devotion to the Christ are the appropriate watchwords of a school bearing the name of one of the noblest of all God's noblemen since the apostolic age. And surely no place could be better adapted by location and environment to preserve and cherish the spirit of Robert Milligan than the spot which bears his honored name.

Requirements for Admission

To enter the Freshman Class of the Robert Milligan Bible School, a student must give evidence, by examination or otherwise, that he has completed satisfactorily the College Preparatory requirements in English, Mathematics, History and Science.

Graduates in either course, with very little additional work, may secure the regular degrees conferred by the College upon completing the required courses of study. The fee for the Bible School Diploma is $3.00.

THE ACADEMY

Two objects are kept in view in arranging the courses of study and directing the Academy: first, to offer preparation for College, which will be suficient in quality to admit a student to the Freshman Class of any College or University; second, to provide for young men and women who may be denied the advantage of a college course, as much training and culture as is possible in a four year's course of academic work in secondary school.

The courses of study are arranged to meet the individual needs of the student. Under the advice of the director of the Academy, every opportunity is afforded the student to progress in his work of preparation as rapidly as is consistent with thoroughness and good scholarship.

The work and discipline of the Academy is under the supervision of the Dean of the College, who is ex officio director of the preparatory schools. The Academy is in close touch with the College. The President and Faculty of the College also give special attention to the work of the Academy and in certain subjects the instruction is by College professors. In every department, the instruction is thorough, and special effort is made that the student may at all times feel the personal impress of the instructor. The students of the Academy enjoy all the privileges of the library and reading room, and the advantages of the athletics of the college.

The young ladies attending the Academy from abroad are required, except when other arrangements are allowed by the President, to reside in the Mee Memorial Hall, which is a pleasant home of refined influences.

Study Hall

Students are required to study in the Study Hall provided for the purpose, under the scheduled regulations, unless excused by the Director of the Academy.

Admission

Completion of the course of study in the elementary schools is required for admission to the Academy. Certificates from teachers or school officers certifying that the student has completed the work in Elementary English Grammar, Practical Arithmetic, United States History and Complete Geography will ordinarily be accepted in lieu of examination in these subjects. Students wishing to enter without such certificates may be examined on these subjects during the first three days of school. Students conditioned in one or more of the above named studies will have to make up that condition in the Elementary School during the first year of the Academy course.

Choice of Courses

Students may, by and with the advice and consent of the Director of the Academy, choose a course of study differing from the Curriculum; but when the course is chosen and the classes entered, no change will be made after the beginning of the fourth week of school. The work of each course should be taken in order from the beginning, but the Director for sufficient reasons may give permission to vary the order.

Substitutions

Studies in one course may be substituted for those of another provided the credit is the same, and the Director is satisfied that the substitution will be for the best; but in the Classical and Literary courses, no substitution will be made for Latin. In the third and fourth years, Greek may be substituted for equivalent units other than Latin.

A credit or unit means the equivalent of five prepared recitations a week for one scholastic year or not less than one hundred and fifty (150) recitations, two periods of laboratory work being considered equivalent to one period of recitation work.

Rhetoricals and Exercises

All the students shall perform Rhetorical work throughout the year under the direction of the Director of the Academy.

Graduation

Students who satisfactorily complete a course of study offered in the Academy shall be granted a diploma certifying the fact, but in all cases the conduct of a student must be satisfactory before the honors of graduation can be conferred.

Schedule of Studies

Below is submitted a schedule of studies. Each course continues throughout one year, unless otherwise stated.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

Miss Marcelena Houston

Piano

The Method of Pianoforte instruction pursued is the "Flexible wrist loose-arm system," inaugurated by Mendelssohn, Chopin and Talburg, and continued by Liszt and his pupils. Technical and theoretical instruction are combined, and constant reference is made to Musical Dictionaries and Encyclopedias.

Two thirty-minute lessons or one forty-minute lesson per week will be given in the Music Department is accordance with arrangements mutually satisfactory to teacher and pupil.

Recitals will be given by the pupils during the school year, to which the patrons and friends of the College are invited.

Voice Culture

The aim of our method is, first to develop the voice throughout its entire compass, then to perfect it. We teach the proper use and extent of the registers of the voice, diaphragmatic breathing, and pure flexible tone. Tone is the chief aim during the entire course of study. The peculiarities presented by different voices are directed and modified, each according to it sown nature.

VI

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

To Be Supplied.

The aim of the Commercial Department is to be complete and practical. The courses are designed, work outlined, text-books selected, and everything planned with the one design of giving the student everything necessary in training and equipment, to enable him to fill completely the positions in the actual commercial world of today, for which the work he takes is supposed to be a preparation, and to tax his time and energies with as little as possible that is not directly useful. The courses usually offered in Business Colleges throughout the country, are taught here as follows:

I-STENOGRAPHY AND TYPEWRITING

(a) SHORTHAND. There is a great deal of irrelevant, polemical discussion indulged in over the merits of different shorthand systems. We do not believe the matter of choice of system to be nearly so vital as diligant application to the one selected, until its principles have become mastered by study and their application has grown natural and easy through practice. We give students their choice of either the Graham or the Gregg systems. The former is usually conceded to be the most rapid of the Pitmanic systems; while the latter is the best known, and we believe, everything considered, the best, of the light-line positionless systems. The course consists of the regular texts with practice matter for dictation work.

(b) TYPEWRITING. Typewriting by touch is so far and so obviously superior to the old method, that we compel all students to learn "absolute touch," and deal shortly with any indications of a tendency to drift into the clumsy sight-writing. Students practice two hours each school day on new standard machines. A rental of 50c per week, $2.00 per month, is charged for the use of the machines, payable in advance; or students may furnish their own machines.

(c) STENOGRAPHERS' BUSINESS PRACTICE. The short-hand and typewriting work is supplemented by two weeks of actual office work, involving the taking and transcribing of business letters, the use of those business forms with which a stenographer must be acquainted, copying, filing, card-indexing systems, and everything the student will find in a modern office.

II—BOOKKEEPING AND OFFICE PRACTICE

This course will make competent business bookkeepers of those who conscientiously pursue and finish it. It includes "Practical Bookkeeping," a thorough and up-to-date text-book, and "Twentieth Century Business Practice," a practice course in which the student actually keeps in succession five different sets of books, in different kinds of business, making all the transactions and handling all the business papers, cash, etc., with which he would have to deal in keeping the books of a modern business enterprise. A Supplementary Course gives instruction in Bank Accounting by the same methods.

III—COMMERCIAL LAW

A comprehensive course in the laws of business with which business men should be familiar. Study and recitation from a good Commercial College Text, two hours weekly, alternating with the Penmanship Course.

IV—BUSINESS PENMANSHIP

We teach the well-known "Palmer Method of Business Writing," which develops a rapid, easy, legible, business hand—that which the business world of today demands. Practice, under instructor's supervision, three hours per week, alternating with Commercial Law.

DIPLOMAS

Two diplomas are granted for Commercial work, one in Stenography and the other in Bookkeeping.

54

(a) STENOGRAPHY. To receive the Stenographer's Diploma, the student must satisfactorily complete the course, must pass an examination in Shorthand and in Typewriting, and must be proficient in Spelling, English Grammar and Rhetoric. The Shorthand examination covers the taking of dictation from new matter from different sources at a speed of one hundred words per minute, and reading same back accurately and correctly from the Shorthand notes. The standard for typewriting is a copying speed of fifty words per minute from unfamiliar matter of different kinds, five words to be deducted for each error. The Diploma fee is $3.00.

(b) BOOKKEEPING. Students who satisfactorily complete the course in Bookkeeping, furnish evidence of competency, and pass an examination in Commercial Law, and who write a plain business hand, will be granted an Accountants' Diploma, on payment of the Diploma fee of $3.00.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Buildings

The College buildings are three in number. The main building, a substantial brick structure, containing the recitation rooms, chapel, library and society halls, occupies the center of the campus. It has been newly refitted, painted and papered. The Young Men's Home, a two-story frame building containing nearly thirty rooms, plainly furnished but affording substantial accommodations for students, is located to the rear of the main building.

The Frances T. and Columbus A. Mee Memorial Hall

Through the mnuificence of Mrs. Frances T. Mee, of Cleveland, Tenn., we now have free of debt our spacious and handsomely furnished young ladies' dormitory. Mee Hall is a three-story brick structure, opened the first time for the season of 1908-09. It contains thirty-two rooms, with reception rooms and parlor, has hot and cold water on each floor, is handsomely furnished, and is heated by steam. Rooms in this building should be engaged as soon as possible, as a number had already been reserved when the Catalogue went to press.

Grounds

The College campus contains over thirty acres of ground. A large and beautiful grove, each tree of which was planted by some former student, surrounds the main building. There are excellent ball grounds and tennis courts for the use of the student body.

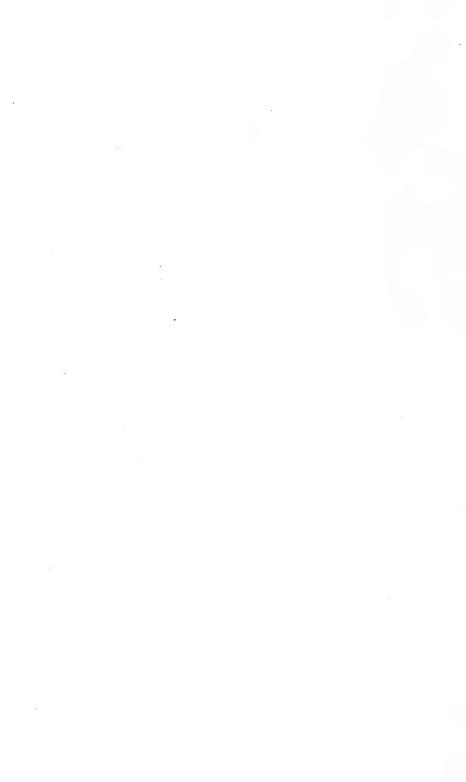

Libraries

The College maintains three libraries: (I) the Old Library, containing mostly reference books and government or statistical publications; (2) the Reading Room, containing the later reference works and about three thousand volumes of standard literature; and (3) The Number Nine Library, containing about two thousand volumes dealing principally with theological or Biblical literature. These libraries are all available for student use under the proper restrictions.

The new Reading Room is supplied with all the standard magazines and periodicals. The list of last year was as follows: Dailies— Baltimore American, Chattanooga Times, Knoxville Journal and Tribune. Johnson City Staff, Bristol News. Weeklies—Christian Standard, Outlook, Independent, Christian Evangelist, Saturday Evening Post, Nation, Scientific American, Dial, Harper's Weekly, Harper's Bazar, Collier's, Commoner, Literary Digest. Monthlies— Century, Harper's, N. Am. Review, Cosmopolitan, Hampton's American, McClure's, Everybody's. Ladies' Home Journal, St. Nicholas, Delineator, Forum, Review of Reviews, Current Literature, Atlantic Monthly, Bookman, Missionary Review of the World, Musician, Outing, World Today, World's Work, Physical Culture, Human Life, Tennessee Christian, Missionary Intelligencer, Advocate of Peace, The Labor Digest.

SECTION OF THE ATHLETIC FIELD.

LITERARY SOCIETIES, PUBLICATIONS, ETC. Literary Societies

The literary societies are four in number—The American, Adelphian and Ciceronian for young men, and the Ossolian for young ladies. They do excellent work during the year, giving public performances upon stated occasions.

Contests

Through the munificence of one of our alumni, Mr. Oscar M. Fair (1903) a prize oratorical contest is held during the week of Commencement exercises. The Oscar M. Fair Contest is between the representatives of the Literary Societies of the College, and carries with it a first prize of $15 in gold, a second prize of $10 in gold, and a gavel made of wood from Lookout Mountain for the successful society.

Honors

The average grades for the entire length of time spent in school are printed upon the Commencement programs. The student in the Classical Course sustaining the highest general average is awarded the Valedictory. The student sustaining the highest average in any other course, is awarded the Salutatory; and the student sustaining the highest average in any course after those of the Valedictorian and Salutatorian is awarded the Class Oration.

The New Horizon

The student body publishes a monthly paper entitled "The New Horizon," which is managed and directed by the students at large, and which affords considerable scope for reportorial and literary talent.

III

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Student Behavior

Students are expected to deport themselves as ladies and gentlemen-above all, as those who are, or expect to be, Christian men and women. No profanity is permitted on the grounds, nor is the use of alcohol or tobacco in any form allowed. Insubordination, or violation of the laws of the school will lead to expulsion and permanent exclusion from its privileges.

Class Absences

Five unexcused absences in any one study will suspend the student thus absent.

Age Limit in Young Men's Dormitory

Boys under fifteen years of age are not allowed to room in the young men's dormitory.

Conduct in Examinations

By a resolution of the Faculty, adopted May 2d, 1910, it was determined that in all classes in the College, the penalty for any sort of dishonesty on the part of students in examinations shall be, in the first instance, "Suspension from that class in which the offence occurred, for the term, with the loss of all credit for the term's work in the aforesaid class, no opportunity for making up said work to be permitted until the scholastic year following. For a second offence by the same party, the penalty shall be suspension from the College for the term in which the offence was committed, with the loss of all credits for the term's work."

It was also resolved, "That in all cases, the student accused of dishonesty shall be given a fair trial, and conviction shall follow an affirmative vote of three-fourths of the membership of the entire faculty."

Organization of Classes

The College makes no provision for the organization in any department of classes in which less than five students have signified their intention of taking up the work.

Breakage

The parents or guardians of students are held responsible for any breakage or damage done to property or furniture.

Outside Board

Young ladies attending the College are not permitted to board outside of the Home, except with the express approval of their parents and special permission from the faculty.

\mathbf{IV}

SCHOLARSHIPS AND BEQUESTS

Milligan Endowment

Through the kindness of Professor Alexander R. Milligan of Lexington, Ky., who gave $5,000 for the purpose in December, 1909, we now have the nucleus of a permanent endowment fund. This fund ought to be increased to at least $100,000 in order to enable Milligan College to accomplish the work it can and ought to do.

Scholarships

Those who cannot help with the permanent endowment may find it possible to endow named scholarships in the institution. The sum of $800 will endow a perpetual scholarship, carrying with it the tuition expenses of one student for every year. The sum of $2,000 will endow a ministerial scholarship, carrying with it the ministerial course each year. The sum of $2,500 will endow a similar scholarship for a young lady in any of the regular collegiate courses.

Annual scholarships providing for student expense, year by year, may be contributed individually as follows: forty dollars, in four equal payments, will constitute a named tuition scholarship for the year; and one hundred dollars, in ten equal payments, will constitute a named ministerial scholarship for one year. Churches, Endeavor or Ladies Aid Societies, and even Sunday School Classes should provide scholarships of the kind for worthy students among their number or elsewhere.

Form of Bequest

Many friends of Milligan College will doubtless be glad to help its work, after they have passed from this earth to their reward. In this way they will be able to originate a stream of influence, continuing throughout eternity. The following, or an equivalent form, should be used in your will, which should fully describe real estate, and should be signed by you, in the presence of witnesses, whose signatures should likewise appear:

"I give and bequeath to Milligan College of Tennessee, an institution chartered under the laws of the State of Tennesse, and locatd at Milligan College, Carter County, Tennessee, the sum of \dots (or if real estate, let location and description appear at this point) for the use of said institution, in conducting its work of education; and the receipt of the secretary of the said institution for the above-named sum, (or described property) shall constitute a release for my executor for the same."

RELIGIOUS AND MORAL ATMOSPHERE V

College Spirit

The greatest and best inheritance of Milligan is its "college spirit." It is not of the kind which delights to express itself in rowdyism and profanity; but rather is a clean, pure, healthful moral tone which irresistably permeates the whole student body. The very air of Milligan breathes purity and high-toned Christian character.

Outside Board

Furnished room with board can be secured outside the College in private families at from $9.00 to $12.50 per month, the usual price being $10.00 to $12.00.

Fees

The only fees connected with the College are the following:

(A) Library fee of one dollar, charged each student upon matriculation, and the proceeds applied strictly to the purchase of books and magazines for the Library.

(B) Matriculation fee of $10.00 charged all students in the English Ministerial Course, who do not room and board in the College dormitory. This fee will also admit anyone to all lecture courses in the College, but not to class room work or examination.

Combination Courses and Total Expenses Estimated

For the benefit of those young ladies who desire to take music chiefly, we have a special musical course, giving either vocal or instrumental music and a maximum of two English studies for $75.00 per term, in advance, for everything (board, room, heat, light, tuition, etc.)

The total necessary expense of a student at Milligan College varies from $100.00 per year to $175.00. $140.00 for a young man and $150.00 for a young lady, is a good general average. The Milligan rates do not aim at the cheapness which negates comfort; nor on the other hand, do they embody more than the actual expense which comfort brings.

Diploma Fees

The fee for the Bachelor's Diploma is in all cases $5.00. The fee for the Master's Degree is $10.00. The fee for the Ministerial Diploma in either the English or the Classical Course is $5.00. The fee for either of the Business Diplomas is also $5.00.

Laundry and Incidental Expenses

Laundry costs from 75c to $2.00 per month, in accordance with the amount. Incidental expenses are at a minimum at Milligan College. There is no reason why a student should spend anything beyond the smallest possible allowance for expenses outside of College charges.

Terms of Payment

All tuition and room rent bills, for the term, are payable strictly IN ADVANCE,, and payment must be arranged for at the time of matriculation. Board is payable weekly, IN ADVANCE, as elsewhere stated. In all cases, where the student leaves during the term, no refund or deduction of tuition or room rent will be made, unless by special action of the Executive Committee. The justice of the latter regulation will become apparent when it is understood that a room vacated during the term cannot be filled except in rare instances, before the opening of the next term.

Location

The College is located three miles from Johnson City, and half a mile from the Milligan College station on the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina Railroad. It is surrounded by a small village named Milligan College in honor of the institution.

The location is one of the most beautiful in America. The Watauga River flows only a short distance below the grounds, and the scenery around the College is unsurpassed in natural beauty and grandeur.

Healthfulness

One of the most important considerations in selecting a college is its healthfulness of location. Other advantages amount to but little without this, the most valuable of all. In the thirty years of its history, no serious epidemic has been known at Milligan. The purity of the air, the excellent water, and the splendid advantages for physical development, have been chiefly responsible for this condition.

Young Ladies' Home

The rules governing the conduct of girls in our young ladies' home, while strict, are not burdensome. The greatest care is exercised by those who have the young ladies in charge, and parents may safely trust their daughters in our hands. We have a thoroughly efficient and capable Dean of Women, and an experienced matron in charge of the housekeeping department. The young ladies' rooms are extra large, well ventilated, equipped with new furniture, and are comfortable in every sense of the term. We furnish exceptionally good board for the prices charged. There are few places in the world where a young lady can secure a thorough education at so little expense, as at Milligan.

What to Furnish

Students boarding at the homes will furnish their own toilet articles, towels, napkins, pillow cases and sheets, and one blanket each

Monday Holiday

Monday instead of Saturday is the regular weekly holiday.

Two Terms

The school year is divided into two terms, or semesters, of eighteen weeks each.

Text Books

Text-books can be purchased at publishers' price from the College book store. All purchases at the store are strictly cash. Nearly all necessary books can be secured second-hand, thus reducing the expense for books to a minimum.

VIII

ATHLETICS

Milligan College has always maintained a fine record as regards athletics. In common with the more advanced educational ideals, we do not play football at all; but baseball, basketball, tennis, and other legitimate games are encouraged, within proper bounds, and in accordance with the regulations mentioned elsewhere in the catalogue. The record of the Milligan baseball team during the past number of years has been an exceedingly creditable one. We have crossed bats with some of the largest universities and colleges in the South and have held our own with them or defeated them. We have played Vanderbilt University to a tie on their home grounds, and among others have defeated the University of Tennessee and University of Chattanooga. During the season of 1908-09, we won fifteen out of eighteen games. Owing to more stringent regulations regarding absence from the College fewer games were played during the season of 1909-10; but our record was even better than that of the preceding year, our team winning all twelve of the games played. The record for 1910-11 was almost equally good. The 1911-12 record is as follows:

FOREWORD

Every institution must be, in the last analysis, the embodiment of an idea. Colleges, like men, possess many traits in common: but like men too, each exhibits an individuality of its own. The distinctive idea back of Milligan College is that of CHAR-ACTER BUILDING FIRST OF ALL. The peculiar environment of the College, its seclusion, the religious and moral atmosphere which surrounds it, and the dominant aims of its Faculty and those who have it in charge, to say nothing of the cherished legacy of the past, all conspire to further the realization of the ideal it has in view. He who wrote, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," embodied to the fullest the educational ideal of Milligan.

LOCATION AND HISTORY

Milligan College is located in Carter County, Tennessee, about twenty-four miles from the North Carolina line and twenty-five miles from the Virginia line at Bristol. It is one hundred and six mile by rail from Knoxville, Tennessee; one hundred and seventyfive miles by rail from Roanoke, Virginia; and one hundred and fiftyone miles from Asheville, North Carolina. The main line of the Southern railroad runs three miles below it, the nearest station being Johnson City. The C., C. & O. R. R. passes two miles south of the College at the station of Okolona, and also passes through Johnson City. The E. T. & W. N. C. R. R., connecting Johnson City with Cranberry, N. C., runs one-half mile from the campus at its station of Milligan College.

Early History-The State of Franklin-King's Mountain-Boone Tree

The College^d is located in that section of Tennessee which once formed part of the long defunct State of Franklin-a commonwealth whose brief but romantic existence was terminated in a battle fought only a short distance from the site now occupied by the College grounds. Two miles to the north, at Sycamore Shoals, the American volunteers who fought the decisive battle of King's Mountain started on the famous march which in the opinion of competent historians was the turning point in the American Revolution. Upon the Board of Trustees of Milligan College are gentlemen who are lineal descendents of these King's Mountain veterans. In the month of June, 1910, a shaft was unveiled at Sycamore Shoals, under the auspices of the D. A. R. commemorating the departure of the King's Mountain volunteers. The principal oration upon this occasion was delivered by the late U.S. Senator Robert L. Taylor, an alumnus of Milligan College, who was three times Governor and also Senior Senator from the State of Tennessee.

After Sycamore Shoals and the days of King's Mountain, came Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett. Boone's original trail passed only a few miles west of the College; and at Boone's Creek, about eight miles south, there is shown to this day a mighty oak tree with the following inscription carved upon it:

"D Boon Cild Bar."

Whether the illustrious Daniel actually performed the feat at this place, which tradition and this inscription attribute to him, we do not know; but the unique orthography was certainly D. Boone's own, and the tree is old enough to substantiate the legend. One of the annual College pilgrimages leads to this tree, which is conveniently reached either by rail or by driving. Davy Crockett was born at Limestone, on the Southern Railroad eighteen miles below Johnson City; and legends dealing with his early prowess and history are numerous throughout this section.

Early History of the College-Its Founding and Administration

The site of Milligan College, with its superb view of the majestic Buffalo Mountain and the silver waters of the Buffalo Creek flowing just below, was early chosen as an ideal spot for an institution of learning. Before the Civil War, a school was established which was attended by many men who afterward became illustrious in the history not only of Tennessee but also of the nation. After the War between the States, this school was given the name of Buffalo Institute, and numbered among its students both "Bob" and "Alf" Taylor, as well as other men who achieved prominence in national and civic life. During this time the institution was largely under the direction of Colonel Barker, a man whose talented and lovable character left its impress upon the future history of the College. In 1880 a young man from Kentucky, by the name of Josephus Hopwood, came to Carter County in search of a place to found an institution of learning built upon the broad foundation of Christian culture, a clean heart and a Buffalo Institute was turned over to him; and in 1882 clean life. the old name was changed to Milligan College, after the sainted character whose history is given elsewhere in detail. Professor Hopwood always regarded Robert Milligan as the highest embodiment of ideal manhood he had met, and therefore named the College, which he designed as an instrument for the development of Christian character among men and women, after his beloved teacher. For twentythree years from 1880 to 1903. President Hopwood directed the destinies of Milligan College. The story of those twenty-three years of disinterested, unselfish service for God and the world is written, not in books or upon marble, but in the hearts and lives of hundreds of men and women who are scattered all over America, and who are blessing humanity because they were given high ideals of life at Milligan College. Many privations were endured during these years, privations known only to those who bore them and to the Recording Angel who wrote them down. In 1903, President Hopwood relinquished the burden he had borne so long to one who had graduated under him and who was associated with him for years as a teacher. No finer spirited man, or one more loyal to those ideals of Service and Purity which belong to the heritage of Milligan, could have been found than Henry R. Garrett. Unselfish Service was the keynote of his life at Milligan; and after five years of labor, largely worn out by his efforts, aided by bodily sickness, he was obliged to seek a warmer climate in the dry atmosphere of Western Texas. President Garrett's mantle fell upon another young man, Frederick D. Kershner, a native of Maryland and a graduate of Kentucky University and of Princeton. President Kershner took charge of the College in the spring of 1908. He resigned soon after the opening of the session 1911-1912 and his resignation took effect Oct. 31, 1911. The Board immediately elected the Dean Tyler E. Utterback, a native of Kentucky, graduate of Kentucky University, Central University of Kentucky, and Columbia University, New York, a man of large experience both as an educator and preacher. At the close of the year 1912-1913, President Utterback's resignation which had been offered one year before, was accepted, and E. W. McDiarmid, a graduate of Bethany and of Hiram College, was elected President of Milligan College. The same ideals of life which ruled under the former administrations obtain today. and the same emphasis upon purity and cleanness of living and the development of Christian character, remains as the core of the Milligan spirit.

Over two hundred—240 to be exact—students have been graduated from Milligan College since the first class left its halls in 1882. A host of young men and women who were not able to complete their education were also instructed during this period. The aim of the College has been toward higher ideals, not only of character, but also of scholarship; and the work has been constantly graded up with this end in view. Where honesty of purpose is inculated, there will be thoroughness of work; and this has always been true of Milligan men and women, as the records of the alumni clearly disclose. We do not believe the statement to be boastful that no college can claim a larger percentage of successful graduates than Milligan, success being defined as the living of an honest, influential and altruistic life.

ALTITUDE AND HEALTHFULNESS OF LOCATION

Milligan College has an altitude of 1,740 feet. It is only four miles from Buffalo Mountain, over 4,000 feet high, and twelve miles from Roan Mountain 6,000 feet. Mt. Mitchell, the highest peak in America east of the Rockies, is located only forty miles to the east, and is reached from Milligan via the C., C. & O. R. R. The climate is temperate, and perhaps the most perfect illustration of that of the temperate zone. The air is remarkably pure, there is an abundance of pure water, and all natural advantages for school life would seem to be possessed by this favored section of Eastern America. Criticism has sometimes been directed against the large number of schools and colleges in East Tennessee. The reason for this apparent crowding of institutions lies in the fact that the location is practically ideal for school purposes. With modern railroad facilities, it is far better that a school should be located well from the point of view of healthfulness and climate than from the point of view of purely geographical fitness.

PART II

THE PERSONNEL OF MILLIGAN COLLEGE

The Charter of Milligan College provides that its property shall be owned and controlled by a Board of Trustees consisting of thirtythree members, one-third of whom or eleven members shall be elected each year by the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society, when assembled in Annual Convention. The control and ownership of the College is thus vested in the Christian Churches of Tennessee. The membership of the Board of Trustees is not however, limited to any religious body, nor by any state or territorial requirements. The Board of Control, or Executive Committee of the Institution, is composed of nine members, five of whom constitute a quorum for business.

The following gentlemen constitute the Board of Trustees:

From the point of view of scholarship, students are admitted to Milligan College in one of three ways:

Second—By certificate showing at least fifteen units of work from a High School or Preparatory School accredited by the State University of the state in which said school in located. Students admitted in this way are placed upon a probationary requirement which provides that a failure to make the usual number of credits during the first session involves the student in the entrance examinations outlined below. President McDiarmid

Education I First Term—The History and Principles of Education Text Book, lectures and selected reading, and class room discussion. The object of this course is to study the evolution of the educational ideal in connection with the conditions in which it had its origin and amid which it developed. Special attention is given to the systems of education in Greece and Rome, in Europe during the Middle Ages, the Renaissance and the Reformation, and in Modern Germany, France, England and America. Physical environment, social, industrial and political conditions, traditions, customs, and religion, have had their influence in determining racial development, one phase of which has found its expression, during the different periods, in the educational systems of the several nations. These systems are analyzed as revealing epochal and national ideals, the writings of individuals being studied for their contribution to and interpretation of these systems.

- Second Term—Elementary and Secondary Education. The theory and practice of teaching in the elementary and secondary schools, and the applications of the principles of teaching, are special features of this course. Reports, discussions, observation and practice, with supervision and criticism.

THE ROBERT MILLIGAN BIBLE SCHOOL

The Robert Milligan Bible School has grown out of the needs of religious work in the South. Its aim is to furnish an adequate preparation for the ministry of the Gospel on the part of those who complete the work assigned. The ideals which govern those who have charge of the school are entirely opposed to any legalistic or formalistic interpretation of Christianity. On the contrary, they assume that the one need of the world today is the vital, living Christ, with His message of supreme tenderness and love. To see somewhat of that message, to become enthused with it, and to go forth to proclaim it to the world, they conceive to be the mission of the preacher. The school aims always at thoroughness of preparation and accuracy of scholarship rather than mere numercial display. It appeals to all those who have the ideal of quality rather than quantity in the ministry.

Unswerving fidelity to the Word, and thorough devotion to the Christ are the appropriate watchwords of a school bearing the name of one of the noblest of God's noblemen since the apostolic age. And surely no place could be better adapted by location and environment to preserve and cherish the spirit of Robert Milligan than the spot which bears his honored name.

Requirements for Admission

To enter the Freshman Class of the Robert Milligan Bible School, a student must give evidence, by examination or otherwise, that he has completed satisfactorily the College Preparatory requirements in English, Mathematics, History and Science.

These diplomas are certificates of merit, and carry with them quite as much value as the usual academic degrees. Graduates in either course, with very little additional work, may secure the regular degrees conferred by the College upon completing the required courses of study. The fee for the Bible School Diploma is $3.00.

Practical evangelistic methods constitute a part of the regular study of the ministerial student at Milligan. Students are encouraged to hold meetings at nearby mission points under competent direction. A large section of the country adjoining Milligan has been evangelized in this way.

Home Economics

We feel very much gratified that we can offer this course to our students. During the last ten years the study of Domestic Science has come into prominence. In the past the task of teaching the girl to cook, to sew, and to keep the home, was left to the mother. Now the schools have taken the subject into their hands, and all over the country this science is being taught. It has been called, and properly so, the Science of "Home Making."

In offering it this first year, we are giving only two courses, one in cooking, and one in sewing. Next year we will give the second course in cooking and a more advanced sewing course. We have new laboratories and the very best of equipment, and we recommend this to you.

The courses are as follows:

Course I—Household Science. Study of food materials and their classification as to structure, nutritive value and use in the body. The combustion of foods. The study of fuels, different cooking apparatus, and cooking processes. The food combinations, and the planning and serving of meals.

Course II—Domestic Art. Study of textiles and their relation to clothing. The application of different stitches to useful articles. The use of patterns, also the cutting and making of garments.

III

THE ACADEMY

Two objects are kept in view in arranging the courses of study and directing the Academy; first, to offer preparation for College, which will be sufficient in quality to admit a student to the Freshman Class of any College of University; second, to provide for young men and women who may be denied the advantage of a college course, as much training and culture as is possible in a four year's course of academic work in secondary school.

The courses of study are arranged to meet the individual needs of the student. Under the advice of the director of the Academy, every opportunity is afforded the student to progress in his work of preparation as rapidly as is consistent with thoroughness and good scholarship.

The work and discipline of the Academy is under the supervision of the Dean of the College, who is ex officio director of the preparatory schools. The Academy is in close touch with the College. The President and Faculty of the College also give special attention to the work of the Academy and in certain subjects the instruction is by College professors. In every department, the instruction is thorough, and special effort is made that the student may at all times feel the personal impress of the instructor. The Students of the Academy enjoy all the privileges of the library and reading room, and the advantages of the athletics of the college.

The young ladies attending the Academy from abroad are required, except when other arrangements are allowed by the President, to reside in the ladies' dormitory which is a pleasant home of refined influences.

Study Hall

Students are required to study in the Study Hall provided for the purpose, under the scheduled regulations, unless excused by the Director of the Academy.

Admission

Completion of the course of study in the elementary schools is required for admission to the Academy. Certificates from teachers or school officers certifying that the student has completed the work in Elementary English Grammar, Practical Arithmetic, United States History and Complete Geography will ordinarily be accepted in lieu of examination in these subjects. Students wishing to enter without such certificates may be examined on these subjects during the first three days of school. Students conditioned in one or more of the above named studies will have to make up that condition in the Elementary School during the first year of the Academy course.

Choice of Courses

Students may, by and with the advice and consent of the Director of the Academy, choose a course of study differing from the Curriculum; but when the course is chosen and the classes entered, no change will be made after the beginning of the fourth week of school. The work of each course should be taken in order from the beginning, but the Director for sufficient reasons may give permission to vary the order.

Substitutions

Studies in one course may be substituted for those of another provided the credit is the same, and the Director is satisfied that the substitution will be for the best; but in the Classical and Literary courses, no substitution will be made for Latin. In the third and fourth years, Greek may be substituted for equivalent units other than Latin.

A credit or unit means the equivalent of five prepared recitations a week for one scholastic year or not less than one hundred and fifty (150) recitations, two periods of laboratory work being considered equivalent to one period of recitation work.

Rhetoricals and Exercises

All the students shall perform Rhetorical work throughout the year under the direction of the Director of the Academy.

Graduation

Students who satisfactorily complete a course of study offered in the Academy shall be granted a diploma certifying the fact, but in all cases the conduct of a student must be satisfactory before the honors of graduation can be conferred.

Schedule of Studies

Below is submitted a schedule of studies. Each course continues throughout one year, unless otherwise stated.

The average amount of work required of each student is twenty periods in recitation per week. No student will be assigned less work than this except for reason.

VI

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

To Be Supplied.

The aim of the Commercial Department is to be complete and practical. The courses are designed, work outlined, text-books selected, and everything planned with the one design of giving the student everything necessary in training and equipment, to enable him to fill completely the positions in the actual commercial world of today, for which the work he takes is supposed to be a preparation, and to tax his time and energies with as little as possible that is not directly useful. The courses usually offered in Business Colleges throughout the country, are taught here as follows:

Stenography and Typewriting

(a) SHORTHAND. There is a great deal of irrelevant, polemical discussion indulged in over the merits of different shorthand systems. We do not believe the matter of choice of system to be nearly so vital as diligant application to the one selected, until its principles have become mastered by study and their application has grown natural and easy through practice. We give students their choice of either the Graham or the Gregg systems. The former is usually conceded to be the most rapid of the Pitmanic systems; while the latter is the best known, and we believe, everything considered, the best, of the light-line positionless systems. The course consists of the regular texts with practice matter for dictation work.

(b) TYPEWRITING. Typewriting by touch is so far and so obviously superior to the old method, that we compel all students to learn "absolute touch," and deal shortly with any indications of a tendency to drift into the clumsy sight-writing. Students practice two hours each school day on new standard machines. A rental of 50c per week, $2.00 per month, is charged for the use of the machines, payable in advance; or students may furnish their own machines.

(c) STENOGRAPHERS' BUSINESS PRACTICE. The short-hand and typewriting work is supplemented by two weeks of actual office work, involving the taking and transcribing of business letters, the use of those business forms with which a stenographer must be acquainted, copying, filing, card-indexing systems, and everything the student will find in a modern office.

II—BOOKKEEPING AND OFFICE PRACTICE

This course will make competent business bookkeepers of those who conscientiously pursue and finish it. It includes "Practical Bookkeeping," a thorough and up-to-date text-book, and "Twentieth Century Business Practice," a practice course in which the student actually keeps in succession five different sets of books, in different kinds of business, making all the tranactions and handling all the business papers, cash, etc., with which he would have to deal in keeping the books of a modern business enterprise. A Supplementary Course gives instruction in Bank Accounting by the same methods.

HI-COMMERCIAL LAW

A comprehensive course in the laws of business with which business men should be familiar. Study and recitation from a good Commercial College Text, two hours weekly, alternating with the Penmanship Course.

IV-BUSINESS PENMANSHIP

We teach the well-known "Palmer Method of Business Writing," which develops a rapid, easy, legible, business hand—that which the business world of today demands. Practice, under instructor's supervision, three hours per week, alternating with Commercial Law.

DIPLOMAS

Two diplomas are granted for Commercial work, one in Stenography and the other in Bookkeeping.

(a) STENOGRAPHY. To receive the Stenographer's Diploma, the student must satisfactorily complete the course, must pass an examination in Shorthand and in Typewriting, and must be proficient in Spelling, English Grammar and Rhetoric. The Shorthand examination covers the taking of dictation from new matter from different sources at a speed of one hundred words per minute, and reading same back accurately and correctly from the Shorthand notes. The standard for typewriting is a copying speed of fifty words per minute from unfamiliar matter of different kinds, five words to be deducted for each error. The Diploma fee is $3.00.

(b) BOOKKEEPING. Students who satisfactorily complete the course in Bookkeeping, furnish evidence of competency, and pass an examination in Commercial Law, and who write a plain business hand, will be granted an Accountants' Diploma, on payment of the Diploma fee of $3.00.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Buildings

The College buildings are five in number. The main building, a substantial brick structure, containing the recitation rooms, chapel, library and society halls, occupies the center of the campus. It is being remodeled and a new and larger addition built giving adequate accommodations for recitation rooms and study hall.

The Frances T. and Columbus A. Mee Memorial Hall

Through the munificence of Mrs. Frances T. Mee, of Cleveland, Tenn., we now have free of debt our spacious and handsomely furnished young men's dormitory. Mee Hall is a three-story brick structure, opened the first time for the season of 1908-09. It contains thirty-two rooms, with reception rooms and parlor, has hot and cold water on each floor, is handsomely furnished, and is heated by steam. Rooms in this building should be engaged as soon as possible.

The New Dormitory for Women.

This new structure is being erected now and will be ready for occupancy by the first of September. It will be handsomely furnished, heated by steam, water in each room, bath rooms on each floor and large parlors, reception rooms and music practice rooms. This building is a beautiful brick structure, three stories high and so situated between the new main college building and the Mee Hall as to command a beautiful view of the magnificent Bullafo Mountain range. Young ladies should immediately reserve rooms in this building as a number have already been spoken for.

Central Heating Plant

A central heating plant is being erected now and by the opening of school in September 1913, it will be in use. All the college buildings are to be furnished with steam heat from this plant.

The President's Residence

The trustees of the college are putting up on the campus a residence for the President. This splendid cottage will be the means of adding much to the social life of Milligan College.

Grounds

The College campus contains over thirty acres of ground. A large and beautiful grove, each tree of which was planted by some former student, surrounds the main building. There are excellent ball grounds and tennis courts for the use of the student body.

Libraries

The College maintains three libraries: (I) the Old Library, containing mostly reference books and government or statistical publications; (2) the Reading Room, containing the later reference works and about three thousand volumes of standard literature; and (3) The Number Nine Library, containing about two thousand volumes dealing with theological or Biblical literature. These libraries are all available for the student under the proper restrictions.

The new Reading Room is supplied with all the standard magazines and periodicals. The list of last year was as follows: Dailies— Baltimore American, Chattanooga Times, Knoxville Journal and Tribune, Johnson City Staff, Bristol Herald Courier. Weeklies—Christian Standard, Outlook, Independent, Christian Evangelist, Saturday Evening Post, Nation, Scientific American, Dial, Harper's Weekly, Harper's Bazar, Collier's, Commoner, Literary Digest. Monthlies—Century, Harper's, N. Am. Review, Cosmopolitan, Hampton's American, McClure's, Everybody's, Ladies' Home Journal, St. Nicholas, Delineator, Forum, Review of Reviews, Current Literature, Atlantic Monthly, Bookman, Missionary Review of the World, Musician, Outing, World Today, World's Work, Physical Culture, Human Life, Tennessee Christian, Missionary Intelligencer, Advocate of Peace, The Labor Digest.

II

LITERARY SOCIETIES, PUBLICATIONS, ETC.

Literary Societies

The literary societies are four in number—The American, and the F. D. Kershner for young men; and the Ossolian and the Ellisonian for young ladies. They do excellent work during the year, giving public performances upon stated occasions.

Contests

Through the munificence of one of our alumni, Mr. Oscar M. Fair, (1903) a prize oratorical contest is held during the week of Commencement exercises. The Oscar M. Fair Contest is between the representatives of the Literary Societies of the College, and carries with it a first prize of $15 in gold, a second prize of $10 in gold, and a gavel made of wood from Lookout Mountain for the successful society.

Honors

The average grades for the entire time the student has spent in school is made the basis for awarding the honors. The student in the Classical Course sustaining the highest general average for that course is awarded the first honor and will deliver the Valedictory at Commencement, the highest geenral average in any other course is awarded the second honor and will deliver the Salutatory and the next highest is awarded the third honor and is assigned the Class Oration.

The Bulletin

The student body publishes a monthly paper entitled "The Bulletin" which is managed and directed by the students at large and which affords considerable scope for reportorial and literary talent.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Student Behavior

Students are expected to deport themselves as ladies and gentlemen —above all, as those who are, or expect to be, Christian men and women. No profanity is permitted on the grounds, nor is the use of alcohol or tobacco in any form allowed. Insubordination, or violati_On of the laws of the school will lead to expulsion and permanent exclusion from its privileges.

Class Absences

Five unexcused absences in any one study will suspend the student thus absent.

Age Limit in Young Men's Dormitory

Boys under fifteen years of age are not allowed to room in the young men's dormitory.

Conduct in Examinations

By a resolution of the Faculty, adopted May 2nd, 1910, it was determined that in all classes in the College, the penalty for any sort of dishonesty on the part of students in examinations shall be, in the first instance, "Suspension from that class in which the offense occurred, for the term, with the loss of all credit for the term's work in the aforesaid class, no opportunity for making up said work to be permitted until the scholastic year following. For a second offense by the same party, the penalty shall be suspension from the College for the term in which the offense was committed, with the loss of all credits for the term's work."

It was also resolved, "That in all cases, the student accused of dishonesty shall be given a fair trial, and conviction shall follow an affirmative vote of three-fourths of the membership of the entire faculty."

Organization of Classes

The College makes no provision for the organization in any department of classes in which less than five students have signified their intention of taking up the work.

Breakage

The parents or guardians of students are held responsible for any breakage or damage done to property or furniture.

Outside Board

Young ladies attending the College are not permitted to board outside of the Home, except with the express approval of their parents and special permission from the faculty.

IV

Milligan Endowment

Through the kindness of Professor Alexander R. Milligan, of Lexington, Ky., who gave $5,000 for the purpose in December, 1909, we now have the nucleus of a permanent endowment fund. This fund ought to be increased to at least $100,000 in order to enable Milligan College to accomplish the work it can and ought to do.

Scholarships

Those who cannot help with the permanent endowment may find it possible to endow named scholarships in the institution. The sum of $800 will endow a perpetual scholarship, carrying with it the tuition expenses of one student for every year. The sum of $2,000 will endow a ministerial scholarship, carrying with it the ministerial course each year. The sum of $2,500 will endow a similar scholarship for a young lady in any of the regular collegiate courses.

Annual scholarships providing for student expense, year by year, may be contributed individually as follows: forty dollars, in four equal payments, will constitute a named tuition scholarship for the year; and one hundred dollars, in ten equal payments, will constitute a named ministerial scholarship for one year. Churches, Endeavor or Ladies'

56

Aid Societies, and even Sunday School Classes should provide scholarships of the kind for worthy students among their number or elsewhere.

Form of Bequest

Many friends of Milligan College will doubtless be glad to help its work, after they have passed from this earth to their reward. In this way they will be able to originate a stream of influence, continuing throughout eternity. The following, or an equivalent form, should be used in your will, which should fully describe real estate, and should be signed by you, in the presence of witnesses, whose signatures should likewise appear:

"I give and bequeath to Milligan College of Tennessee, an institution chartered under the laws of the State of Tennessee, and located at Milligan College, Carter County, Tennessee, the sum of $......... (or if real estate, let location and description appear at this point) for the use of said institution, in conducting its work of education; and the receipt of the secretary of the said institution for the abovenamed sum, (or described property) shall constitute a release for my executor for the same."

RELIGIOUS AND MORAL ATMOSPHERE

College Spirit

The greatest and best inheritance of Milligan is its "college spirit." It is not of the kind which delights to express itself in rowdyism and profanity; but rather is a clean, pure, healthful moral tone which irresistibly permeates the whole student body. The very air of Milligan breathes purity and high-toned Christian character.

Outside Board

Furnished room with board can be secured outside the College in private families at about $12.50 per month.

Fees

The only fees connected with the College are the following:

(A) Library fee of one dollar, charged each student upon matriculation, and the proceeds applied strictly to the purchase of books and magazines for the Library.

(B) Matriculation fee of $10.00 charged all students in the English Ministerial Course, who do not room and board in the College dormitory. This fee will also admit anyone to all lecture courses in the College, but not to class room work or examination.

Combination Courses and Total Expenses Estimated

For the benefit of those young ladies who desire to take music chiefly, we have a special musical course, giving either vocal or instrumental music and a maximum of two English studies for $75.00 per term, in advance, for everything (board, room, heat, light, tuition, etc.)

The total necessary expense of a student at Milligan College varies from $100.00 per year to $175.00. $140.00 for a young man and $150.00 for a young lady, is a good general average. The Milligan rates do not aim at the cheapness which negates comfort; nor on the other hand, do they embody more than the actual expense which comfort brings.

Diploma Fees

The fee for the Bachelor's Diploma is in all cases $5.00. The fee for the Master's Degree is $10.00. The fee for the Ministerial Diploma in either the English or the Classical Course is $3.00. The fee for either of the Business Diplomas is also $5.00.

Laundry and Incidental Expenses

Laundry costs from 75c to $2.00 per month, in accordance with the amount. Incidental expenses are at a minimum at Milligan College. There is no reason why a student should spend anything beyond the smallest possible allowance for expenses outside of College charges.

Terms of Payment

All tuition and room rent bills, for the term, are payable strictly IN ADVANCE, and payment must be arranged for at the time of matriculation. Board is payable weekly, IN ADVANCE, as elsewhere stated. In all cases, where the student leaves during the term, no refund or deduction of tuition or room rent will be made, unless by special action of the Executive Committee. The justice of the latter regulation will become apparent when it is understood that a room vacated during the term cannot be filled except in rare instances, before the opening of the next term.

Location

The College is located three miles from Johnson City, and half a mile from the Milligan College station on the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina Railroad. It is surrounded by a small village named Milligan College in honor of the institution.

The location is one of the most beautiful in America. The Watauga River flows only a short distance below the grounds, and the scenery around the College is unsurpassed in natural beauty and grandeur.

Healthfulness

One of the most important considerations in selecting a college is its healthfulness of location. Other advantages amount to but little without this, the most valuable of all. In the thirty years of its history, no serious epidemic has been known at Milligan. The purity of the air, the excellent water, and the splendid advantages for physical development, have been chiefly responsible for this condition.

Young Ladies' Home

The rules governing the conduct of girls in our young ladies' home, while strict, are not burdensome. The greatest care is exercised by those who have the young ladies in charge, and parents may safely trust their daughters in our hands. We have a thoroughly efficient and capable Dean of Women, and an experienced matron in charge of the housekeeping department. The young ladies' rooms are extra large, well ventilated, equipped with new furniture, and are comfortable in every sense of the term. We furnish exceptionally good board for the prices charged. There are few places in the world where a young lady can secure a thorough education at so little expense as at Milligan.

What to Furnish

Students boarding at the homes will furnish their own toilet articles, towels, napkins, pillow cases and sheets, and one blanket each.

Monday Holiday

Monday instead of Saturday is the regular weekly holiday.

Two Terms

The school year is divided into two terms, or semesters, of eighteen weeks each.

Text Books

Text-Books can be purchased at publishers' price from the College book store. All purchases at the store are strictly cash. Nearly all necessary books can be secured second-hand, thus reducing the expense for books to a minimum.

VIII

ATHLETICS

Milligan College has always maintained a fine record as regards athletics. In common with the more advanced educational ideals, we do not play football at all; but baseball, tennis, and other legitimate games are encouraged, within proper bounds, and in accordance with the regulations mentioned elsewhere in the catalogue. The record of the Milligan College baseball team during the past has been an exceedingly creditable one. We have crossed bats with some of the largest universities and colleges in the South and have held our own with them or defeated them. We have played Vanderbilt University to a tie on their home grounds, and among others have defeated the University of Tennessee and University of Chattanooga. During the season of 1908-09, we won fifteen out of eighteen games. Owing to more stringent regulations regarding absence from the College fewer games were played during the season of 1909-10; but our record was even better than that of the preceding year, our team winning all twelve of the games played. The record for 1910-11 was almost equally good. The 1911-12 record was fair showing six won, six lost. The 1912-13 record and line up are as follows:
